THE LAST KISS

Last caress of a tangled romance which ended in death is given by Mrs. Helen Wills Love, 31, in this farewell over the body of her husband, Harry Love, 46, whom she killed as he entertained his mother at a New Year's eve dinner in Santa Monica, Calif. Mrs. Love, a secret bride since last March, said she killed her husband, wealthy stock broker, because his love for his mother was ruining their marriage. A coroner's jury recommended she be held for trial.

METAL UNION MEMBERS ADVISED TO GO TO WORK

Statements Indicate Settlement Of Strike Still Remote

By Joseph L. Miller

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The giant General Motors corporation, which is beset by strikes, took sides today with American Federation of Labor craft unions in their campaign to crush John L. Lewis' industrial organization drive.

John P. Frey, craft union spokesman, announced General Motors' position at the same time he told newspapermen he had advised craft union members to go back to their jobs at the strike-closed Fisher body plant in Cleveland. Fisher Bodies is a General Motors subsidiary.

The General Motors attitude was disclosed in an exchange of telegrams between Frey, president of the A. F. of L. metal trades department, and H. W. Anderson of the corporation's labor relations department in Detroit.

Frey asked Anderson Thursday to make no agreement with any organization that would freeze the craft unions out of General Motors plants.

This morning, Frey received the following reply:

"In line with the established policy, you may rest assured that General Motors has no intention of entering with legitimate jurisdiction of international unions affiliated with the metal trades department of American Federation of Labor."

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, is trying to bring all the workers in each large industry, including automobiles, into one big union. The federation last September suspended ten of its unions for joining Lewis in his committee for industrial organization.

The craft leaders think highly skilled workers should belong to the union of their craft, whether they work in a large industry or a small town shop.

Other developments in the labor field:

Secretary Perkins, in her annual report to congress, said wage and hour legislation was practical only for fixing minimum standards. She proposed "cooperation" and collective bargaining for setting standards above the minimum.

Miss Perkins and Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary, kept in touch with the General Motors strike situation by reports from Detroit conciliators. Miss Perkins in turn, reported developments to President Roosevelt.

A non-strikers committee at the Fisher Body plant in Cleveland claiming to represent 3,425 of 7,000 idle employes, petitioned the company to reopen the plant. In North Tarrytown, N. Y., 1,447 of 4,000 workers pledged their "loyalty" to the company and asked that the 1,8 General Motors plants there remain open.

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation told the labor relations board, in a brief, that its employes were free to join any union they chose, but that they had accepted an employe representation plan. Lewis' lieutenants

WINTRY WEATHER DELAYS MOVE TO BRING BOY BACK

Undisclosed 'Hitch' Encountered In Plan To Pay Mattson Ransom

ADVERTISEMENT REVEALS FATHER FEARS HIJACKERS

Believe Attempt Made By Imposters Thursday To Obtain Money

By Associated Press

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Snow apparently stalled operations tonight in the Charles Mattson kidnaping and chances for immediate release of the 10-year-old boy seemingly lessened with continuation of the storm.

Dr. W. W. Mattson, Charles' father, waited at his home for additional word from the kidnaper which would make payment of the $28,000 ransom possible. Some undisclosed "hitch" in negotiations was believed to have prevented the payment at a scheduled time Thursday.

Federal bureau of investigation agents, though they were known to have snowshoes and other equipment suitable for heavy weather, remained in their offices, reverting to the policy of "non-interference" which they temporarily abandoned early yesterday.

Disinterested observers predicted a delay in the climax of the case when the snow which totaled 5 inches, started falling shortly before dawn today.

They pointed out the weather would prevent any safe meeting between the kidnaper and an intermediary for the family, since neither officers or "snatchers" hesitate in securing the ransom money would be able to follow the trail.

Evidence that Dr. Mattson feared the presence of hijackers or other outsiders appeared yesterday with publication of another "contact" advertisement. It was published again today.

That reporters or other meddlers prevented the ransom payment Thursday was generally believed, though there was no confirmation.

Travel difficulties also would make release of the youngster less unlikely, it was believed, either because the kidnaper if he is at all human, would fear for the child's safety in the snow, or because his own getaway would be made more difficult.

If Charles is held at some backwoods hideout, as usual rumors have speculated, any attempt to collect the ransom money over the long, perilous trails would be very dangerous, observers said.

Western Washington residents are used to snowfalls in the lowlands seldom venture out when it is falling or on days of heavy fall.

The state of most Southern Washington of several of the highways is particularly isolated in such weather. With the exception of three or four main highways, all roads there are impassable.

Dr. Mattson's anxiety over the failure of negotiations with the kidnaper became apparent when the new advertisement addressed to "Mabel" appeared in the personal column of the Seattle Daily Times.

The message repeated assurances that the writer "Ann" (known to refer to the Mattson family) was prepared to meet Mabel, and that all instructions were being followed. The note begged "Mabel" for more specific instructions and a more method of

PAMELA WERNER'S TORN BODY FOUND

Death Looked Upon As Climax Of Love Affair With Foreigner

PEIPING, China, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Chinese police officials advanced the theory today that the slaying of 17-year-old Pamela Werner, whose mutilated body was found yesterday beside a lonely road, might have been the climax of a love affair with an unidentified foreigner.

Authorities declared only a foreigner could have slain the vivacious English girl, daughter of E. T. C. Werner, a former British consular official.

Natives, they said, will not venture at night into the neighborhood where the girl's body was found, torn by voracious wild dogs. The officials said Chinese dread the neighborhood because they believe a ghost lurks there "waiting to pull unwary victims to their death in a ditch."

The death mystery deepened when Rockefeller hospital pathologists, who performed an autopsy, withheld their findings.

The girl's widower father was said to have identified the remains merely by murmuring, "Yes, that must have been Pamela."

A strange accumulation of reported facts clouded a theory the girl was the victim of a robber. Her membership card in a skating club was found, blood-stained, near the body. Expert opinion suggested the blood was spattered while the girl was alive.

The robbery theory was disputed, however, by the reported discovery of a gold watch on the wrist of the mutilated corpse.

Foreign residents were bewildered by the theory that no Chinese could have killed Miss Werner. It was widely believed she might have been slain elsewhere and her body moved later to the area where, native superstition says, prowls the ghost of a German who committed suicide in the vicinity years ago. The ditch in which the body lay is near the road along the historic Tartar wall, surrounding the inner portion of Peiping.

An inquest was deferred pending preparation of medical evidence.

The dogs, which stripped and mutilated her body almost beyond recognition, forage the city constantly, half-starved, especially in winter, and ready to attack anything or anybody for food.

NEGRO CYCLE RIDER DIES IN COLLISION

A collision between an automobile and a bicycle ridden by James Elvis Abrams, 14-year-old negro boy, resulted in the death of the boy late last night at the intersection of Jackson and Mulberry streets. The driver of the car was Wiley R. Harrell, 1008 Jackson street.

The boy, son of Minerva Abrams, 1201 Texas avenue, died almost instantly. The left side of his head was laid open. His body was left by ambulance attendants where it fell, until police had called at the scene and a picture had been taken for use by the Coroner Irving J. Wolff or for other purposes.

Harrell, connected with Davis-Lawhead Funeral home, was driving an automobile southward on Jackson street at the time of the accident, and the boy was riding into Jackson from Mulberry street. The boy was entering Jackson by cutting across the sidewalk at the corner of the intersection where Clark's pharmacy is located, it was stated.

Following the collision, the police investigation showed that the right front fender of the car had been dented, and that the glass of the right door of the machine was broken out. This seemed to indicate that the bicycle was struck by the fender, and that the boy was thrown head first against the window and its frame.

Police Captain B. L. Brantley and Officer J. R. Butler made the investigation at the scene of the accident.

OLD MAIDS FINE, PREACHER STATES

Minister Pays Tribute To Spinsters Of Whatever Age Or Clime

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The Rev. Clinton C. Cox took up the cudgels today for old maids of whatever age or clime.

The world, he declared, owes a lot to spinsters—and "it is time it recognized it."

He undertook to do his bit by preparing a sermon entitled "Tribute to Spinsters" for Sunday night delivery at the Drexel Park Presbyterian church.

"Why, some of the finest things in history have been done by women who never married," he said. Forthwith he proceeded to name "ten great old maids," as follows:

1. Florence Nightingale, the saint of modern nursing.
2. Clara Barton, founder of the Red Cross.
3. Jane Adams, noted social worker and founder of Hull House.
4. Frances Willard, founder of the Women's Christian Temperance union.
5. Christabel Pankhurst, an organizer for the women's suffrage movement in England.
6. Susan B. Anthony, organizer of the women's suffrage movement in the United States.
7. Sarah Bernhardt, great actress.
8. Mary Lyron, pioneer in the education of women in America and founder of Mount Holyoke college.
9. Queen Elizabeth of England.
10. Miriam, sister of Moses, who devoted her life to her family.

"Any woman can get married," said Mr. Cox. "But today many women don't get married simply because they don't want to. Business has given them independence."

He said there were three big reasons why there are old maids:

1. Women forego marriage because of a duty to care for parents or younger brothers and sisters.
2. Women are disappointed in love.
3. Women want a career.

JOHNSTON NAMED HEAD OF SCHOOLS

Grayson Principal To Become Caldwell Parish Superintendent

COLUMBIA, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—Ted L. Johnston, principal of the Grayson High school, was elected superintendent of Caldwell parish schools at a special meeting of the parish school board today. He will assume his duties as superintendent on July 1, succeeding E. B. Cottingham, the incumbent, whose resignation will become effective on that date.

C. C. Hargrove was elected president of the school board and L. L. Maxwell was elected chairman of the finance committee.

Appointment of Principal Johnston as superintendent was unanimously voted by the seven school board members present at the meeting.

Last Tuesday a meeting of the board was held for the purpose of electing a superintendent, with the result of a tie vote, 5 to 5, between Principal Johnston and H. S. Bankston, principal of the Columbia High school.

At today's meeting of the board three members were absent. They were G. L. Shipp, retiring president of the board, E. B. Steel and Tom Martin.

Members present were Mr. Hargrove, Mr. Maxwell, J. M. McKeithen, J. O. Whidden, S. B. Harrelson, W .D. Fisher and M. E. Joiner.

Considerable public interest had been manifest in the selection of the new office holders.

LONG ARGUMENT NOT MUCH GOOD

Participants Talk In Languages Not Understood By Other

NEW YORK, Jan. 9—(AP)—The Spanish surrealist, Salvador Dali, stood in an art gallery here tonight and argued for 15 minutes with a man who criticized his work.

He rattled off words in a steady stream, and waved his hands for emphasis.

When he was done, the critic was of the same opinion still, largely because he could not understand French, the language Dali was using.

This made the argument even.

The critic had argued in English, and Dali could not understand that.

Finally Dali called an interpreter.

The interpreter learned that the critic was Murray Korman, the man who photographs Broadway's beautiful women.

"It's a big fake," said Korman.

"What's a big fake?" asked the interpreter.

"This surrealist show," said Korman.

The interpreter passed this on to Dali, who raised an eyebrow.

"It's not art," Korman shouted at the eyebrow.

The interpreter intercepted.

"Mais, oui!" said Dali.

The interpreter explained this meant, "Sure, I know it."

"It's morbid," said Korman. "It's a bad influence. It will spread."

The interpreter stepped in again, and relayed Dali's reply:

"Bon."

The interpreter said this meant, "Swell. I'm glad to hear it."

Korman left in disgust, for he confided to reporters he had planned to "show this guy up."

VETERAN OF WORLD WAR KILLED BY AUTO

LAUREL, Miss., Jan. 9.—(AP)—H. B. Armstead, 40, was instantly killed early tonight when struck by an automobile as he walked along highway 11 just south of Laurel.

Sheriff Charles H. Thompson said R. A. Grafton, youth who lives west of here, was driving the car, but no charges were filed, the sheriff holding the accident unavoidable.

Armsted was a veteran of the World war and had recently been employed on the new county jail here. He was carrying a Bible in his hand, the sheriff said, when killed. Armsted's head struck a headlight of the automobile and his skull was crushed. He was unmarried.

'Gly-Cas Deserving Of All Its Praise'

Says Mrs. Hall; Had Met With Failure In Trying So Many Medicines But Gly-Cas' Action Amazes Her; Stomach And Kidneys Regulated, Rheumatism Relieved.

"Gly-Cas is the first medicine I have ever taken that is deserving of its praise," said Mrs E. C. Hall, 307 East Eighth Ave., Pine Bluff, Ark. "Since I was twelve years of age, my stomach had caused me trouble after eating. There were many foods I dared not touch, gas formed in abundance, heart burned and would become so short of breath I could hardly stand it. My kidneys were badly affected and to get a good night's sleep was out of the question. Then rheumatism settled in my arms, hands and shoulders, was so stiff and sore I could hardly move at times and was hindered greatly in my work. My system was so full of poisons I could see nothing ahead of me but suffering until I was persuaded to try this new Gly-Cas—it was really different."

"Gly-Cas seemed to be made for cases just like mine," she continued. "My stomach and kidneys were regulated easily, poisons were removed from my system in a most natural manner and before I realized it I was feeling like an entirely different person. That dreadful rheumatism has been relieved, I now eat and enjoy the foods I wish without any ill effects afterwards, sleep good the whole night through and really cannot say half enough in praising this remarkable Gly-Cas for what it has done for me."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug Company, 348 DeSiard St., and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns. —(adv)

CHINESE MOTHER RETAINS CUSTODY

Judge Denies Petition To Appoint White Man Girl's Guardian

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Tearfully, 18-year-old Shong Lin Bow heard a judge refuse today to appoint a white man to be her guardian in place of her Chinese mother.

Shong, an honor student soon to be graduated from Cleveland's Shaw High school, was born in Boston. Her father, also Chinese, died in 1928. Her mother and six other children, ranging in age from 10 to 24, operate an east Cleveland restaurant.

Arthur Merle Hooper, himself the father of a 23-year-old daughter, petitioned for the guardianship.

"I am in a position to see that she is given a square deal," said Hooper, a Standard Oil company executive formerly stationed in China. "Her family is trying to impose centuries of Chinese traditions upon her."

Shong, neatly dressed in American clothing, spoke in exact English.

"I'm essentially American," she protested on the witness stand. "I want Mr. Hooper to be my guardian. He's my friend and has been kind to me. Mr. Hooper will see to it that I have the opportunity to go to college and make something of myself."

Shong charged members of her family had broken into a "treasure box" she kept at home. A picture, purporting to have been removed from the box, was introduced in court. It showed Hooper and the girl on a beach. The oil man said it was taken with his own camera by Wing Bow, a brother of the girl.

Judge Nelson J. Brewer, ruling no evidence had been presented to disqualify Hule She Bow, the mother, as Shong's natural guardian, did not call upon the family for testimony. Miss Dorothy Hooper, daughter of the petitioner, was a spectator. Her mother died in Canton, China, while Hooper was stationed there.

Shong testified she intended to enter Berea (Ky.) college after her graduation from high school. She went to the home of Mrs. May Caldwell, a friend, after the hearing.

"Be proud of your Chinese birth and learn to revere the customs and traditions of your race," Judge Brewer admonished Shong. "You have been the victim of too much outside influence and the influence has been of questionable value."

TEACHERS ELECT

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Spencer Phillips, principal of Pelican High school in DeSoto parish for 25 years, was elected executive secretary of the Louisiana Teachers association today to succeed the late G. O. Houston. He will assume his duties immediately and make his home in Baton Rouge where the association's offices are located.

Real Estate Transfers

Articles of incorporation of Harmon-Greenwald, Inc., a real estate and investment firm capitalized at $4,000, were filed yesterday at the office of the parish clerk of court. The incorporators and the office each holds are: Robert G. Harmon, president; Vivian Greenwald, vice-president; Meyer Greenwald, secretary; David L. Greenwald, treasurer. Each of the incorporators holds ten shares of stock valued at $100 a share.

The Greenwalds operate the Central Construction company, Inc., of Monroe. Mr. Harmon operates a plantation and dairy on the Columbia road.

Offices of the new corporation will be located in room No. 324 of the Bernhardt building.

SATCHELL CASE EXHIBITS ASKED

Defense Attorney Demands Jacket, Shade And Sledge Hammer

LAKE CHARLES, La., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Demanding that the sheriff and the district attorney produce a leather jacket, window shade and sledge hammer to be analyzed by experts for blood stains, Defense Attorney Griffin T. Hawkins today filed pleadings in District Judge Mark C. Pickrel's court seeking to postpone the trial of the Grace Satchell murder case, fixed for January 20.

Judge Pickrel set the pleadings down for argument at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

In written pleadings filed today Mr. Hawkins declared that "from the moment of his (Satchell's) arrest, up until the present time, through efforts of overzealous officers and publicity seekers, every effort has been made to unjustly and illegally poison the public mind and prejudice prospective jurors against your defendent, all with a view of bringing about his conviction, regardless of the true facts and circumstances, in order to vindicate the theories, based wholly upon circumstances, advanced and pounced upon by those seeking his conviction, and their own personal aggrandizement."

HOBO KING PLANS TO MEET EDWARD

Expects To See Former King Of England Next August

CINCINNATI, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Jeff Davis, self-styled king of hoboes, looked ahead today to August—the time he says he will meet Edward, Duke of Windsor.

"No kidding," insisted Davis as he announced membership of a committee he says will journey from the International Hoboes' convention in London, to wait upon the former king of Britain, "wherever he is."

"First of all," he said, "I'm going. And then me and the committee is gonna tell him what a grand guy we think he is."

How would a delegation of 'boes travel to call upon a former king?

Davis, wiry, gray-haired and dynamic, leaned over a desk, his eyes sparkling:

"We'll get there," he said, "I promise that."

Here, said Davis, is the membership of the "committee-in-waiting:"

"First of all," himself; "Arizona Bob" Gillespie of Cincinnati; Dr. Ben Reitman of Chicago; John Weller of Altoona, Pa.; Bob Golden of Richmond, Va., and Harry Latz, of New York City.

Walter Jordan, Wellsboro, Pa., trapper, caught a golden eagle—rare in his section—in a trap intended for raccoons.

SOCIAL SECURITY ACT UNDER FIRE

Three Firms Seek To Have Mississippi Law Declared Invalid

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Constitutionality of the unemployment insurance act of the Mississippi social security program was attacked in federal court here today by three firms which operate cotton mills in Mississippi.

The firms asked for an injunction to restrain the state of Mississippi from collecting state unemployment compensation taxes and also applied for a declaratory judgment to invalidate the Mississippi unemployment tax law.

The case was argued before a special three-judge court and the applications were taken under advisement by the tribunal.

Plaintiffs in the case were the Aponaug Manufacturing company, of Jackson; the J. W. Sanders Cotton Mills, Inc., Jackson, and the Alden Mills, of New Orleans.

The case was heard before Judge Rufus E. Foster and Judge Edwin R. Holmes of the United States circuit court of appeals and Judge Wayne G. Borah, district judge at New Orleans.

The injunction procedure was directed against Eugene Fly, United States collector of internal revenue for Mississippi, members of the Mississippi unemployment commission and Greek L. Rice, attorney general of Mississippi.

Ben F. Cameron, of Meridian, Miss., leading counsel for the plaintiffs, declared the Mississippi act was violative of the federal constitution in that it discriminated against employers of eight or more persons against whom the tax was imposed on the basis of payrolls of their employes.

He declared that by the very nature of the social security act the states were "practically forced" to enact state unemployment compensation acts in order that they might benefit from the social security act.

The act was defended as being "wholly legal" and not in violation of the federal constitution in arguments advanced by J. A. Lauderdale, of Jackson, assistant attorney general of Mississippi; John R. Holloman, of Columbus, Miss., attorney for the state unemployment commission, and Arnold Raum, of Washington, D. C., special assistant to the United States attorney general.

Defense counsel argued that the Mississippi law was in keeping with the federal statute and that the legislature acted "wholly" within their taxing powers.

TAMPICO, Mexico, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Leon Trotzky came to Mexico today to the haven that European nations had refused him.

The tanker Ruth brought the one-time co-leader of Soviet Russia to Tampico from Norway, where he had been living in exile until Mexico invited him to come here and Norway expelled him.

He looked well. His gray goatee was trimmed neatly, and his hair was bushy. He was garbed in a gray-brown knicker suit, with a biege shirt and a wine-colored tie.

The 57-year-old Russian broke the silence of his last four months' internment in Norway—where police closely guarded his villa—to denounce what he called the "Moscow frameup."

He referred to the execution of 16 men in Moscow—including Gregory Zinovieff and Leon Kameneff, Trotzky followers—convicted of plotting to overthrow the Soviet administration.

Defendants testified Trotzky directed the alleged plot in an attempt to make Russia a Fascist state.

Trotzky declared he would soon publish an article which would describe, among other things, "the methods used to extort the so-called voluntary confessions" at the trial.

Mrs. Trotzky, wearing a blue skirt and a blue and white striped sweater, sat quietly beside her husband as he read his prepared statement.

He pledged himself to "complete and absolute non-intervention in Mexican politics and abstinence, no less absolute, from acts that could harm the amicable relations of Mexico with any other country."

Mexico had made it a condition, in offering him a haven, that he refrain from interference in Mexican political affairs.

His future plans, Trotzky said, were indefinite, but he hoped to complete a biography of Nikolai Lenin.

A hostile demonstration which had been threatened by the Tamaulipas State Labor federation, an affiliate of the Confederation of Labor of Mexico, failed to materialize.

President Lazare Cardenas, a reliable source said, had placed at Trotzky's disposal an airplane and a private railway car, but the Russian declared he was "so bewildered at the kindness and attention" he received that he had not decided where to go for the moment."

POPE ENJOYS DAY FREE FROM PAIN

Paralysis Of Right Leg, However, Said To Be Extending

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI, cheerful and serene, enjoyed a day free of pain today, but paralysis of his right leg was said to be extending.

His physician, Dr. Aminta Milani, was able to alleviate the pain in his partly paralyzed left leg, aggravated by open sores which resulted from the breaking of a varicose vein.

The brilliant winter sunlight streaming through the 79-year-old pontiff's bedroom windows helped to raise his spirits.

Vatican sources reiterated, however, that the holy father, who has been bed-ridden for more than a month, probably could not be cured of his fundamental ailments—heart disease and hardening of the arteries.

He sent this plea to the Eucharistic congress to be held in Manila February 3 to 7:

"Pray for the re-establishment of peace in a world which needs it badly."

The message was given to the papal mission to the congress, led by Dennis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia, by Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state.

Cardinal Pacelli received the group in his offices, presenting to Cardinal Dougherty a gold and silver casket, the pope's gift to the Eucharistic congress.

The pontiff was fatigued greatly tonight, and injections were administered. They soothed him and permitted him to rest.

MARRIAGES

KENTON-PHILLIPS

MANGHAM, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—John C. Kenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Kenton, and Miss Jimmie Phillips, daughter of Mrs. Isaac Hewitt, were married at the Rayville Methodist parsonage with Rev. L. N. Hoffpauir officiating, on December 25. Only a few friends were present at the ceremony. The popular young couple have a wide circle of friends in this community. They are making their home here, where Mr. Kenton is associated with his father in a mercantile business.

HORN-SIMPSON

ST. JOSEPH, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—Miss Mary Joe Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Simpson of West Monroe, and W. R. Horn were married Saturday, January 2, at the Baptist parsonage, West Monroe, with Rev. E. L. Hintsberry performing the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Horn are at present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Magruder Smith. Mr. Horn is the representative of the Louisiana Power and Light company here.

WATKINS-HAY

WESTON, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—Miss Lois Hay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hay of the Weston community, and Lee Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Watkins of Ward 4, were married Saturday, December 26, by Justice of the peace J. M. Sims.

DEATHS

CLINTON FUNERAL

The funeral of N. A. Clinton, 38, of Clay, who died in a local hospital late Friday as a result of injuries received in an auto wreck in West Monroe last Sunday when A. P. Golden, 32, of Columbia, his wife, 28, and Elmer Madden, 31, of Simsboro, were instantly killed, was held at Clay Saturday and interment took place in a Ruston cemetery. He was a member of the American Legion post and of the Masonic lodge at Ruston.

He is survived by one son, Nat Clinton; his mother, Mrs. N. L. Clinton of Clay; three sisters, Mrs. John Paul Jones and Mrs. Karl Lowery of Simsboro, and Mrs. L. E. Head of Clay; and two brothers, H. P. Clinton and Bill Clinton, both of Clay.

Golden and his wife died of injuries and drowning and Clinton suffered from shock and exposure, when the car in which all the four victims were riding was wrecked when it plunged into a deep drainage ditch at the end of North Fourth street near the intersection of Crosley street.

MRS. W. E. ANDERSON

JONESBORO, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. W. E. Anderson, 50 years old, who died Thursday morning at her home here, were held at the residence Friday. Rev. Dodge of Jonesboro and Rev. Corley of Chatham officated. Burial took place in a Jonesboro cemetery.

Mrs. Anderson, who became a member of the Baptist church more than 20 years ago, is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Panther of Little Rock, Ark., and Mrs. Alice Duckworth of Jonesboro; two sons, Charlie and Levell Anderson, both of Jonesboro; five brothers; three sisters, and two grandchildren.

SMITH RITES

The funeral of Miss Sallie M. Taylor, 66, of Tioga, who died Here on Thursday, was held at Perrin funeral chapel Saturday at 10 a.m. Rev. N. F. Vandrowen, pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic church, officated and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.

Pallbearers were R. N. Slaton, H. L. Smith, Harry Black, Gordon Surgener, Harold Dixon, and Arthur Wilson.

Miss Taylor is survived by a sister, Mrs. M. V. Clark, with whom she resided in Tioga; a sister, Mrs. Ben Gilbert of Los Angeles, Calif.; two brothers, J. V. Taylor of Peoria, Ill., and J. G. Taylor of Kentucky, and a number of nephews and nieces. One of the nieces is Miss Kate Clark.

HOWELL FUNERAL

The funeral of M. W. Howell 45, Monroe automobile mechanic and World war veteran who was drowned Friday afternoon in Bayou LaFourche, 11 miles from Monroe, was held Saturday at 4 p.m., at the Davis-Lawhead funeral home with Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. Interment was in Riverside Burial park. The American Legion post took part in the services at the grave.

Mr. Howell resided at 2917 Richmond street. He leaves his widow; one daughter, Miss Ethel Howell of San Francisco; four sisters, Mrs. B. R. Parker, of Monroe, Mrs. C. B. Phillips, of Ferriday, and Mrs. Lina Berry and Mrs. Della Smith of Delo, Miss.; and one brother, Rad Howell, of Mississippi.

HERMAN ZAPPE

FERRIDAY, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—Funeral services were held Saturday for Herman J. "Sonny" Zappe, 37, Ferriday fireman of the Missouri-Pacific railroad company, who was killed Friday morning near Mer Rouge, when he was hit by an obstruction from another passing train. Interment was made in the family lot of Pollock cemetery Saturday afternoon. Rev. Joseph Hamilton, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated.

Zappe, an employe of the Missouri-Pacific lines for a number of years, was also a member of the Ferriday semi-professional baseball club and was well known over this section. He is survived by his widow, his mother, Mrs. Alice Zappe, sisters, Mrs. Carl Chapman, Mrs. Albert Massey and Mrs. Dewey Moss.

CHAMBLISS FUNERAL

Funeral services for Franklin Lee Chambliss, 69, who died at his home at Calhoun Friday, following a lengthy illness, were held yesterday at the Calhoun Methodist church. Rev. W. W. Ledbetter officiated, assisted by Rev. Roy, pastor of the church. Interment was made in the Calhoun cemetery. Rites of the Masonic organization were administered at the grave.

Mr. Chambliss was born in Monroe October 26, 1867, the son of Captain W. R. Chambliss and Sarah Garrett Chambliss. Nearly all of his life was spent in Ouachita parish.

Surviving relatives are his widow, who before her marriage was Miss Myrtle Camp; two children, Franklin and Georgianna, and two sisters, Mrs. E. G. Clarke of Bovce and Mrs. Samuel L. Allen of Delhi.

CONGRESSMEN ASK MORE FOR RELIEF

Group From Six Western States To Seek $200,000,000 Increase

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Members of congress from six western states organized today to fight for an increase of at least $200,000,000 in President Roosevelt's relief estimates for the next five months.

Senator Bone, Democrat, Washington, who served as chairman at a conference of the group, warned that serious trouble may break out in the northwest if works progress administration funds are held to the president's recommendations.

A steady flow of penniless families from drouth stricken areas to the northwest has aggravated the relief problem, he said, so that "any drastic trimming of WPA rolls is out of the question."

The conference named a committee of seven, headed by Senator Pope, Democrat, Idaho, to appeal to the appropriations committees of both houses.

Members are Senators Schwellenbach, Democrat, Washington, and Murray, Democrat, Montana, and Representatives O'Connor, Democrat, Montana, Pierce, Democrat, Oregon, Voorhis, Democrat, California, and Smith, Democrat, Washington.

Congressmen from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, California and Wyoming attended.

Bone said Mr. Roosevelt's recommendation of $650,000,000 to finance WPA through June 30 would provide only $130,000,000 a month, compared to an average expenditure of $170,000,000 in each of the last six months.

"At least $40,000,000 a month more will be needed to keep relief at its present level," he said, "and much larger sums would be required to handle the problem as it should be handled."

In Washington alone, he asserted, "at least 12,000 new WPA jobs" are needed this month for "drouth refugees."

Bone said needs of the other five states had not yet been estimated but that they ran "pretty high."

At the conference, in addition to those previously mentioned, were Senators Steiwer, Republican, Oregon, and Schwartz, Democrat, Wyoming, and Representatives Hill, Leavy and Coffee, Washington Democrats; Clark, Democrat, Idaho; O'Connell, Montana Democrat; and J. E. Griffith, Oregon WPA administrator.

GLASS WALKOUT MAY CLOSE SOON

Hope For Settlement Of Strike In Shreveport Grows Brighter

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Hope for the early settlement of the flat glass workers strike which has shut down the Libbey-Owens-Ford plant here for several weeks, gleamed today. Mayor Sam Caldwell, who Friday sent telegrams to John D. Biggers, president of the glass company, and Glen W. McCabe, president of the workers organization, urging arbitration, this morning received a reply from Biggers which struck a hopeful note for the settlement of the strike.

Another development was the departure Friday night for Toledo of Wiley Robertson, national wage representative of the local glass workers union, to attend a conference scheduled there Monday between the strikers wage committee and officials of the glass company.

The message from Biggers to the mayor read:

"I appreciate your interest and offer of mediation, but federal conciliation has just arranged satisfactory basis for resuming negotiations here with union officers and company representatives of all of the plants. We keenly regret the losses which our employes have suffered during this needless strike and hope for an early settlement on a fair basis."

The mayor had received no reply from President McCabe.

STATE OFFICIALS OF AAA CLOSE MEETING

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9.—(AP)—State officials of the agricultural adjustment act concluded a three-day meeting today that had been given over to instruction and plans relative to the soil conservation act in 1937.

Apparent agreement was reached between representatives from the nine southern states of the southern district over all phases of the program with the exception of those provisions relating to terracing or eroding farms.

Life—Or Double Death

Some people die twice. Once mentally and then physically. The first death may occur any time from the age of eighteen on. The physical death may be simultaneous or it may come ten, twenty, or fifty years later.

A mind needs a circulation of ideas. It needs ventilation, or it stagnates.

Mental death comes on so insidiously and quietly that the victim may never know it has arrived. Most of us have seen it work. It gets people who fall victim to the routines by which they live. Our work, our daily paths, our meals, our companions, evenings, recreations, and our week-end, all become routine—unless we are careful.

Routines are essential. But they should not rule our lives.

People who have enduring curiosity, who want to know what things are for—and find out—are not apt to die young mentally. This is the child's lively method of learning, and children become daily the center of broader and wider horizons. It is the secret of keeping mentally young.

Definite projects set for accomplishment also help. Adults are benefited by setting some task which requires mental exertion—the learning of some foreign language, the reading of a few fundamentally important books on economics, social and spiritual welfare, the learning of stenography or stenotypy, or, if they are salespeople, the study of the merchandise they sell.

A woman with a yard can learn a great deal about flowers by systematic effort. The housewife can determine to learn the most accepted theories in connection with child psychology or the slowly evolving but prevailing methods of child education.

The average woman could make a detailed study of perfecting the home routines. Here there is almost universal opportunity for an increase in efficiency. And the development of efficient home routines is a stimulation and relief from careless routines which omit efficiency.

All efficient business houses annually take stock of their accomplishments at the completion of every twelve months. Surely progress within the individual human life is not less important. Why should not the individual take annual stock of his progress? It should be a sad day on which the individual can find no personal mental progress and accomplishment for the previous year past.

BLIND

The human race, a leading expert in optometry warns us, will be blind in 200 years if the present rate of defective vision keeps up. That is bad news, and we hope it is exaggerated, but when we look about us and see the number of folk wearing glasses we are not so sure but what there's the truth in it.

There are three major causes for this bad sight. They are narcotics, booze and excessive tobacco. For posterity's sake, it is up to us to conquer them. Goodness knows, a man likes to stretch out in his arm chair of an evening and light up the old pipe. He stretches, his feet are comfortable in his slippers, and he likes to watch the clouds of smoke. It is really a soothing sensation when his wife scolds him for getting ashes on the carpet.

But try and experiment with yourself. Close your eyes and smoke. Three-fourths of the enjoyment is gone. So it really is largely a mental enjoyment, isn't it? You like the environment with which you habitually associate smoking better than the smoking itself.

About narcotic drugs there is no great division of opinion among clean people. Smoking is not by any means such an evil. It is excessive smoking that hurts the sight.

MELLON'S GIFT

It is inevitable that conjecture should have arisen as to the fate, within the next generation, of the vast fortunes which have been amassed in the United States. This speculation has its origin in government taxing policies which have inspired the belief in many quarters that the next 30 years may witness a leveling of existing great estates. If and when this comes, what will be the effect upon gifts to the public such as "the fine project," as President Roosevelt described it, of Andrew W. Mellon?

Mr. Mellon has offered to the government, as a nucleus of a national gallery, his great collection of seventy pictures valued at $19,000,000. More, he has volunteered to construct and endow a suitable building in which his, and future gifts, may be assembled for the edification of all the people.

Without private fortunes such treasures as the Mellon collection might never be available for public enjoyment. An alternative to private gifts would be government subsidies, of which we already have many in other fields than art.

For the sake of cherished traditions, though conceding that sentimental considerations must be subordinated very often these days to the interests of speed, we hope that no attempt is made to introduce a streamlined Santa Claus.

A Texas bridegroom was felled by an old shoe hurled by a well-wisher. It is thus proved early in the game that the chap hasn't the stamina for matrimony.

ROADS

By Helen Welshimer

NOBODY knows if years will run
Through frightened valleys or to the sun.

FEW roads there are that wind smooth and sweet,
Set for the comfort of pilgrim feet.
That is a thing I know.
Two can bear bramble and briar and stone,
But, oh, awful for one alone,
With frightening roads to go!

CANAAN where all the people were fed
On milk and honey and wheaten bread
Is host to the very few.
If we are part of the chosen band,
Destined to enter the Promised Land,
Let me march in with you!

GETHSEMANE is a weary place
For anybody alone to face,
And Calvary's a wounded hill.
Stay by my side, my dear, my dear,
I'll never mind them if you are near,
Though the sky grow dark and still.

WHAT shall they matter, high hills and weather,
New roads or old, if we go together?

Professor In Blunderland

By BRUCE CATTON

Just to add to the gaiety of nations a learned psychiatrist in New York has discovered that "Alice in Wonderland" is a subversive book, full of dreadful things that are apt to affect the minds of small children very terribly.

This gentleman unburdened himself before a recent meeting of the American Psychoanalytic association. He announced that Lewis Carroll's venerable classic has elements of cruelty, anxiety, danger, and destruction and he doubted that children should be allowed to read it.

For one thing, the book contains "preponderant oral sadistic trends of cannibalistic character." There is in it "the expression of an enormous anxiety." Space and time are all mixed up in the narrative. People are forever being deprived of things, or threatened in the most heartless way.

For instance, Alice does not get anything to eat at the famous tea party. The poem of "The Walrus and the Carpenter" is full of cruelty. The lobster gets cooked. The Queen of Hearts wants to cut off everybody's head. The head of the Jabberwock is cut off. There is, altogether, "a continuous threat to the integrity of the body in general."

Nor is that all. The stability of space is threatened. Bottles start to fly, candlesticks grow longer, a train jumps over a river. Everybody falls down, from the Red and White Knights to Father William. Time is distorted, too, so that it occasionally runs backward.

There is even worse to come. The Walrus and the Carpenter go out into the sunshine when it is night. The White Knight carries a little box upside down so that the rain can't come in, but the food and clothing which the box contains have fallen out. His horse has spiked anklets to protect it from the bites of sharks.

All this, as the learned psychiatrist points out, is simply ridiculous. Worse yet, it is confusing. And, as the psychiatrist says, "we may ask whether such a literature might not increase destructive attitudes in children beyond the measure which is desirable."

Now the funny part about it all is that the scientific gentleman is entirely correct in that "Alice in Wonderland" does have in it all the things he mentions. And yet they add up, not to something subversive, unwholesome, and harmful, but to a lovely fairy story that has given exquisite pleasure to whole generations of people.

And right there is where the magic of the literary artist comes in. Out of the most unlikely materials he creates harmony and beauty. Carroll did it with materials out of psychiatry; Mark Twain did it with an illiterate child, a town bad boy, and a group of riverside wastrels and vagabonds; Dickens, with poverty and failure and crime and the riff-raff of a great city.

Such miracles can't be analyzed. It takes an artist to perform them. A learned attempt to pass judgment on the separate pieces results in a good laugh rather than in enlightenment.

A BOOK REVIEW

MURDER MYSTERIES PROVIDE THRILLS

Erle Stanley Gardner turns away from the Perry Mason series in "The D. A. Calls It Murder" to write a mystery novel in which the emphasis is on the detection of the guilty man rather than the exoneration of the innocent.

He gives us the bright young district attorney of a California city, whose first case is the poisoning of a clerical-looking gentleman in a downtown hotel room. A blackmail plot, a runaway minister, and a roving picture actress are mixed up in it, as is an unscrupulous newspaper which is out to "get" the district attorney.

It makes a good story, although I'll be glad when Mr. Gardner gets back to Perry Mason again. And I wish he'd leave newspaper people out of his next book; the ones in "The D. A. Calls It Murder" are fantastically unreal.

"Candidate for Murder," by Mortimer Post, is an ingenious yarn about a series of murders in a university. Four faculty members—the head of the English department, the dean of the law school, a professor of medicine, and a bio-chemist—join forces to run down the murderer, and a good, plausible story is the result.

If Dean Hawkins had been able to finish "In Memory of Murder," as well as he began it, it would be one of the best detective stories of the winter. His setting is a small southern town, with a light-minded southern belle getting shot to death after a country club dance, and everything is first-rate except the final solution to the mystery.

It is just a little too involved and far-fetched to be wholly convincing.

Even so, the book makes better than average fare for the mystery story fan.

NEW YORK Day by Day by O. O. McIntyre

For a study of an interesting high light in the modern metropolitan scene, I commend one of those mirrory, chromium snack bars, 1937 version, around the cocktail or dinner hour.

To these drift the super worldly young—razored to the new edge and more irresponsible than any age has perhaps produced.

They are vibrant and dewy with freshness and know the answers. Many in their teens, who seem at least to the casual eye, how to hold their liquor. Although we have no way, of course, in checking up the results 10 years hence. And that's just as well.

But today they handle drinks more sensibly than saloon patrons of pre-prohibition. There are no sots among them. And the coyness that characterized maidens of other days is completely vanished.

Today, she appears a hard bitten, cigaret-inhaling little hussey, often with a gin husk. She talks of things we used to speak of only in banter with hostlers out in the barnyard.

She can reel off the reputed Noel Coward double entendre limericks. And with it is somewhat an athlete. Plays a swift game of tennis, rounds the golf course in surprising strokes and can stay seated on a bucking horse with no effort soever.

Alarmists may sermonize over the ultimate finish and their prophecies may be 100 per cent correct. Yet they seem to have marvelous stamina. Any number marry remarkably well.

These are girls as a rule who come from aristocratic parentage. They have been turned out of hot-house finishing schools, introduced to society with $25,000 debutante balls, and had advantages of extensive European travel. They are not "bad girls" in the accepted sense—just high flyers testing their wings.

The species is not general, but there are enough around at cocktail time to add interest to the side line watching. The modern snack bar girl. Something new, my countrymen, in the big city.

From an author: "That new sort of Bible by Simon and Schuster is a swell piece of printing. Would I could have a book printed in Deepdene type!"

From a hut in an African jungle: "Here among the savages for six and a half years one is likely to become spiritually foggy. I found that unconsciously I was getting under the sway of barbaric superstitions and other mumbo jumbo. Then someone sent me, as a gag I suppose, a phonograph record of a country church choir singing 'Rock of Ages,' simply, sweetly. I had a dandy cry and am back in the saddle again, riding with the good old-fashioned religionists."

This slap-stick touch of humor and tragedy actually happened along the picturesque Saw Mill River road the other day. A motorist seized by a fit of coughing. His wife, in a gesture of helpfulness, whacked him on the back. Out plopped his upper plate. Along came a truck and ground them to bits. Tableau!

Style note: When I'm richer and have more leisure—and in the event fame should come to cap a climax—I've thought of devising or having some haberdasher invent a refined black moire silk dressing gown, not piped with lively colors, that I can put on in one minute and be completely dressed, including white collar and tie without any tying, to meet any reporters or grand duchesses that call unexpectedly. Certainly some theatrical costumer could accomplish it. It should be long enough not to need trousers.

Kitty Rhodes was a popular repertoire star through the middle west in the 90's. She now lives happily married and in comfortable retirement at Newburgh, N. Y. She was a great favorite in Gallipolis and on one of her visits 40 years ago broke a hand mirror in her dressing room. At the furniture store where it was sent for repair, two employes wrote a note and enclosed it in the back of the mirror. It read: "Dear Miss Rhodes—We are two of your admirers and wish you a long life and continued success.—Jake Soden and Bud Johnson." In rummaging through an old trunk recently, Miss Rhodes came upon the mirror, which had fallen apart again. She wrote to Earl Mauck, editor of a Gallipolis paper, to know if the gentlemen were alive. They were gone. But older residents remembered her, and so pleasantly they asked her to return for a visit—as the guest of the town.

The medical profession often turns back to simplicities, too. In a scientific magazine I note iodine is no longer universally regarded as the top disinfectant. Indeed many authorities frown on its use. It is now generally accepted that a glutinous remedy—soap and water—is not only the best cleanser but the best disinfectant.

These sidewalk and impromptu house-to-house interviews by radio interviewers reveal a surprising ability of people you would never suspect in the art of bright conversation. Far more so indeed than is usually found among those prepared to talk. And it is astonishing how well versed they are in the affairs of the world and how well they comment upon them.

Family Health

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

As I have pointed out in a previous column, a deficiency of iron in the body may be associated with anemia. Such deficiency occurs particularly in babies and in women; in fact, victims of this type of anemia so frequently are babies that specialists in diseases of children are calling it "dietary anemia," "alimentary anemia," "nutritional anemia" or "milk anemia."

These terms are used to describe a blood condition resulting from a lack, in the diet, of food or mineral elements necessary for the proper formation of red blood cells.

If anemia develops when the diet is adequate, it usually is due to failure of the body to utilize or absorb the substances necessary for blood formation. This may be caused by infection or by disease which attacks the bone marrow or the blood-forming organs.

The most common and the most easily correctable form is that due to lack of iron in the diet. This condition occurs in children who constantly refuse to eat iron-containing foods for long periods of time. There are babies for example, who have been fed nothing but milk for 12, 18, or more months after birth.

Sometimes the mothers have added cereals, potatoes, and other foods to the diet, but have failed to add foods rich in iron. In some instances, babies are born with an iron deficiency, because the mother has not followed a suitable diet during the period before the birth of the child. Sometimes there is anemia in twins, because the amount of iron available is sufficient for one baby but not for two.

The baby with a mild degree of anemia due to lack of iron in the diet may have no other symptoms than a severe pallor of the lips, skin, and mucuous membranes, with a slight increase in the rate of the heart. In severe cases, however, there is lack of appetite, enlargement of the heart and of the spleen, and changes in the amount of hydrochlotic acid in the stomach, which the doctor finds by a special form of examination.

A diagnosis, of course, is made also by a study of the blood to determine the amount of red coloring matter that it contains. Fortunately, these conditions are easily treated by providing proper amounts of iron, or iron and copper, in the diet, and by the prescription of iron in suitable amounts in medicinal form.

At the same time, the doctor is likely to give adequate amounts of the necessary vitamins and fruit juices, and to see to it that the patient has sufficient rest so that the blood-forming organs have opportunity to take advantage of the additional substances that are eaten.

In the very severe cases, the child is given blood immediately by transfusion. Usually improvement is prompt and the condition is easily overcome because the growing organs of children can throw off ailments easier than can those of older people.

The improvement in our knowledge of food in recent years has made it possible to feed children much more scientifically than was possible in previous generations. With suitable scientific feedings, the baby will escape dietary anemia.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—The General Motors strike is being considered in Washington from the following angles, among others:

1—The future of John L. Lewis, chief of the Committee for Industrial Organization, whose willingness to meet owners of the mass production industries in battle at this time is a gamble of his own position in the labor movement and the future success of the C. I. O.

2—Possibility that showdowns in the steel and coal industries will appear along with the one in automobiles and perhaps bring about a situation of general strike propostions in which Roosevelt will feel forced to act in a way which would bring a break between him and Lewis.

3—Question whether the U. S. supreme court (meaning one or two of its members) will be so impressed by the dangers of extensive labor warfare that it will hold the Wagner labor disputes act constitutional. This would force the automobile, steel and other industres to concede a major point by bargaining collectively with labor unions and abolishing their company unions.

4—Possible effect of labor warfare in speeding labor legislation by congress.

5—Likelihood that the LaFollette labor spy committee will turn loose its evidence by resuming hearings with General Motors witnesses on the stand. (Alleged evidence exists that spies searched clothing of workers for union cards or other "incriminating" documents which, when found, were considered cause for dismissal.)

C. I. O. Has F. D. R.'s Favor

Meanwhile, it is important to bear in mind that the automobile industry employs 1,500,000 workers, directly or indirectly; that Roosevelt is sympathetic with the C. I. O. and would prefer a strong labor movement; and that the anticipated General Motors strike and the series of previous automobile supply strikes are not a well-planned, carefully organized movement.

If Lewis and the C. I. O. consciously planned a big auto strike at this time, no outsider in Washington has been able to discover it. Labor leaders say the C. I. O. movement received heavy impetus from the election, in which labor voted almost solidly for Roosevelt and workers felt a new sense of power.

Memory of Roosevelt's strong campaign stand for collective bargaining stiffened labor demand for it. According to union men, strikes in the industries supplying automobile companies broke out in Atlanta, Kansas City, Cleveland, and Flint only after men had been fired or discriminated against for union activity or membership.

Take Bit In Teeth

Sitdown strikes in the supply industries usually began without instigation from union leaders. Workers in the flat glass industry, for instance, practically ran away with their union chiefs.

But the sitdown strikes enormously accelerated union organization, according to reports in Washington. As if impressed by a new sense of solidarity and power, sitdown strikers proceeded to sign cards in large batches, sometimes unanimously.

Lewis insisted on having evidence of this before he announced his collective bargaining ultimatum to General Motors a week before Christmas, soon after he and other C. I. O. leaders realized for the first time how fast the U. A. W. was organizing.

It was then that Lewis decided that opportunity was unexpectedly at hand and should be grabbed at the automobile industry's normal peak of production.

Helps Chrysler, Ford

The C. I. O. hopes to take advantage of the competitive situation and let the Chrysler Motor corporation, with which its relations are less strained, sell all the cars it can while the U. A. W. ties up General Motors.

Regretfully, they admit that Henry Ford may also benefit, since organization in Ford plants has been a slow, painfully, and extremely secretive process. Ford's chief worry, it is reported in Washington, will be in getting glass. No one seems to know how much he has on hand.

The Wagner labor act, with its guarantee of collective bargaining, will not be argued before the supreme court until February 8, and argument is expected to be postponed even beyond that if Justice Harlan F. Stone has not then recovered sufficiently from illness to return to the bench.

OFFICERS ARREST ACCUSED SLAYER

Visit To Drug Store Leads To Apprehension Of Robert Tinsley

GULFPORT, Miss., Jan. 9.—(AP)—A visit to a drug store at Longbeach in flight furnished gulf coast officers a clue which led today to the arrest of Robert Tinsley, 45, discharged bus company employe accused of shooting to death Floyd Devine, manager of the company and brother-in-law of Jerome (Dizzy) Dean, the baseball pitcher.

Tinsley was captured today by John Payne and Carl Randall, Harrison county deputies, as he reclined in his automobile beside Bayou Delisle, 21 miles northwest of Gulfport.

He offered no resistance and did not attempt to use a pistol which the officers said they found in the car.

Witnesses told the officers that Tinsley stopped at the drug store, purchased a package of cigarettes and then took the west road.

The Harrison county grand jury today investigated the slaying in its week-end session and returned an indictment against Tinsley charging murder.

Officers blamed rage over the discharge of Tinsley for the slaying. They quoted Tinsley as telling them that Devine had "double-crossed" him.

Mrs. Devine was a witness to the shooting. It occurred last night at the barn of the company, the Biloxi-Gulfport City Lines, Inc.

She said one wild shot was fired at her, while two bullets entered the body of her husband.

Mrs. Devine told officers that Tinsley approached her husband and demanded to know why they he was fired and that almost before Devine could reply the firing started.

BIG FLEETS WILL

their answers on how to be neutral. Their Thursday notes to Britain are similar. They would take out of Spain's fight all the foreign elements and patrol the borders to shut off supplies.

France and Britain are starting the second part first or getting ready to do it. They announce no plan of action. Their navies, they say, are going to "maneuvers." Whether exactly true or not, that is old strategy. It is the method of nations that wish to get their guns unlimbered on the chance it might be necessary to shoot.

Fascism against Communism.

Spaniard kills Spaniard in that conflict.

The world outside has the same struggle but it is not war.

Germany and Italy backed the Spanish insurgent Fascists under General Francisco Franco. Both recognized him as the real government.

Russia favored the Madrid Socialists and Communists. Premier Leon Blum of France and his Socialist and Communist supporters felt likewise, but professed neutrality for two reasons:

1—France was divided because there is something of the same fight on there politically.

2—If France openly aided Madrid, she knew Germany and Italy would act quickly and Europe's dreaded world war would be on.

There is something besides principle at stake.

France believes a Fascist Spain and a Nazi Germany on her frontiers might bring Fascist rule in France.

Germany believes Spain may go Communist if Madrid wins and thus tend to spread Communism in France.

Germany and Italy openly and officially declare their hatred of Communism. Their laws make it illegal and they seek to prevent its spread.

Soviet Russia, between Japan and Germany, two great military enemies east and west, hopes Spain will be Socialist or Communist, thus limiting and perhaps weakening Fascism in Europe.

Great Britain, a monarchy but a democracy, is between two fires but wishes above all to prevent a general war. One of her anxieties is that she began to rearm only recently and she isn't yet ready with the vast war strength that for generations gave her the "balance of power."

Often she enforced peace because most nations believe the side she joined would win.

Britain last Sunday agreed with Italy upon the main points of their respective "rights" and claims in the Mediterranean. If Germany should get a foothold in Morocco there would be a new power to deal with and the chances for trouble increase.

Britain and France together have more than half the naval power of Europe. They could put a blockade line or other measures that might confine Germany and Italy to their own coasts and Portugal's coast.

NEW GERMAN TROOPS EXPECTED TO LAND

PARIS, Jan. 9.—(AP)—A new contingent of 5,000 German troops with land transports, French sources said, is on Spanish Morocco, for the purpose of Europeanizing it.

Alarmed by the reports and determined to make no headway against German activities in Morocco, French sources said, the confirmation of the movement of troops which were said to be from Munich barracks and aboard North transport ship.

The French Atlantic fleet moved into Moroccan waters. The cruiser Colbert, "in the western Mediterranean," carried Naval Minister Alphonse Concarneau Pure and Vice-Admiral Jean Dutil, chief of the navy general staff on inspection duty.

In French Morocco, Resident General Auguste Nogues took over command of 100,000 troops "ready for any emergency."

Native workmen, reports reaching Paris said, were working feverishly to throw up barracks at Ceuta for the expected German detachment.

The workers were said to be assembling large quantities of food and general stores. Ten German officers of high rank, the reports added, inspected the frontier bordering French Morocco and returned to Tetuan as guests of the Spanish Fascist command.

Convinced diplomatic protests to Fascist insurgents will not halt reported incursion of the Spanish Moroccan zone by German troops and Nazi commercial interests, a foreign office spokesman said France would go to any length to protect her adjacent north African territory.

Both Spanish and French Socialist spokesmen declared here the Valencia government would put no obstacle in the road to intervention should Germany attempt to land larger bodies of troops in Morocco.

"The Valencia government would be only too pleased," both French and Spanish spokesmen said.

A resume of treaties in force, issued by the foreign office, said France was given protectorate of the whole former Riffian empire in an accord with the sultan of Morocco in 1912. During the same year France signed an accord with Spain giving Spain a "zone of influence" in the African territory.

The accord stipulated Spain could not "alienate or cede in any form even temporary, her right over all or part of the territory comprising her zone of influence."

Both French and Spanish Socialist interpretations were that the reported landing of German troops and building of barracks and fortifications in Spanish Morocco now controlled by Fascist General Francisco Franco, violate the treaties.

(Berlin denied . . . any knowledge of events in Morocco where French and British reports said German functionaries had taken over administration that illegal fortifications are being erected, and a number of German troops had landed.)

French Moroccan troops, normally 40,000, were stepped up to 100,000 and the vanguard of the French Atlantic fleet was on the alert in Mediterranean waters ready for action at a moment's notice. The Franco-Spanish Moroccan border was reinforced.

Accords between Spain and France state that if military action in Morocco becomes necessary for either of the contracting parties, it agrees to advise the other at once.

Under no circumstances would either party have the right to appeal for aid from a third nation, which it appeared General Franco had done. It was under the terms of this agreement that France went to Spain's aid against the Riff Chieftain Ab-Del-Krim in 1925.

With both Britain and France watching the developments in Morocco (Britain announced 94 warships will maneuver in or near Spanish waters), it was reported here that French Resident General August Nogues would come to Paris over the week-end to report.

HITLER DISPATCHES MANY VOLUNTEERS

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, hoping for colonies and raw materials, has dispatched 15,000 to 25,000 volunteers to aid Spanish Fascists and spent $180,000,000 on the civil war, private advices said tonight.

There were official denials of German assistance to Fascist General Francisco Franco, and Berlin spokesmen declared no knowledge of reported military and commercial activity in Spanish Morocco.

But private German sources declared Hitler had advised Franco to hasten and capture Madrid by January 15, and that his objectives in the war were return of World war lost colonies, mining concessions in Spain or its possessions, and economic aid from other European powers.

Numerous assertions were heard privately that at least 15,000 men have gone to the Fascist front, these assertions broken only by usually reliable informants who placed the figure at 25,000 men.

One reliable person, close to authoritative sources of information, placed the cost of the civil war to Germany at 450,000,000 marks which he said was approved when Nazi leaders saw a good chance of Fascist victory.

About 10,000 of the German volunteers were said to be regular reich soldiers, the rest labor and youth organizations, and miners dispatched to work in mines in Morocco and Spain.

Franco has asked a minimum of 70,000 men, informed persons said, and General Wilhelm Faupel, Nazi ambassador to the Spanish Fascist government, was reported reliably to have estimated the force necessary at 100,000 men.

removed a short time after he was taken to the sanitarium.

Monroe police and the sheriff's department are cooperating with Chief Cobb in trying Keyes' activities here recently. The investigators questioned Keyes yesterday, but did not have a detailed discussion with him because of his weakened condition.

Keyes has confessed to several daylight burglaries in Monroe and West Monroe. His principal method of operation has been to enter the front door of residences at noon, while no one was at home, and take articles of jewelry and silverware.

The prisoner, it is said, has a criminal record at Shreveport, at Fort Worth and Kilgore, Tex.

On July 26, 1927, Keyes was arrested here for a burglary of the home of D. A. J. Bayne. He was convicted of the theft of the Bayne home and several other burglaries. He was sentenced to the state penitentiary for five years.

In connection with a recent series of burglaries, the police department added to the list of those arrested Jesse Wright, negro, who was arrested by Chief Cobb and Police Officer R. M. Steele of West Monroe approached him near the post office on Cotton street to question him. The officers suspected, and have since learned, Keyes fired the description of the burglar who had been active in Monroe.

As the officers approached, Keyes fled, and he led them on a chase which extended through back yards, over fences and through alleys and streets to the home of Asa Cheesman, 506 South First street, where Keyes crawled under the house. Chief Cobb ordered the youth to come out from under the house, but instead of complying with the order, the youth backed behind a brick pillar and made a motion as if to grab for what he was looking for a weapon in his pocket. The chief then fired and wounded Keyes, who immediately surrendered, declaring, "Y'all have got me, don't shoot any more."

charged the plan was a "company union."

Lewis would not comment on Frey's exchange with General Motors. However, it was explained by associates that the craft unions were engaging in bookkeeping tactics in the auto industry to force the issue of collective bargaining. They feel only a majority of members in the auto union now.

Frey denied talk of breaking any strike. That he said, was not the craft unions intention. They would not call members back to work with strike headquarters settled.

He said in reports in a telegram to the City Hall conference that they should resume the work legitimately begun."

NEGRO APPREHENDED FOR THEFT TWO YEARS AGO

Ben Burt, negro arrested by the sheriff's department to answer a two-year-old charge of stealing clothing owned by William Grayson, negro, was arrested by the department yesterday after he was said to have returned here from Arkansas. Burt, in 1935 under the name of Gleason Burk, received a sentence of six months on the parish roads for forgery of a $15 check and received a sentence of one year in the state penitentiary for the same crime.

Pneumonia Takes Life Of Former Motion Picture Reviewer

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—James O. Spearing, 49, automobile editor and former motion picture reviewer of the New York Times, died of pneumonia today.

He worked until Thursday afternoon when what he had supposed was only a cold forced him to leave his work.

For 23 years he had worked for the Times, leaving twice for short periods to become identified with motion pictures.

For three years, beginning in 1923, he wrote scenarios in Hollywood for Universal Pictures and Paramount Pictures, Inc.

In 1932 he obtained a leave of absence as automobile editor of the Times to go to Singapore for a year to assist in filming "Devil Tiger," a jungle picture for which he wrote the script.

A native of Louisiana, Spearing was the son of the Rev. Dr. Joseph Hall and Jessie Dunn Spearing. The elder Spearing was widely known in the south as a lawyer and clergyman. The son studied theology for one year at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn.

As a film reviewer he spoke out against "[illegible]" and, before sound pictures, against excessive subtitles.

As an automobile editor, he constantly urged safety and mental inventions of drivers.

His widow is the former Edna Mead of South [illegible], N. J., who has won distinction as a poet.

BURNETT'S POLICY

R. W. Burnett, the gentleman who is putting up the money for Monroe's return to organized baseball, left little doubt of his ability to direct the business end of a ball club when he was here last week. He's a good organizer, he knows how to accomplish desired results with a minimum of hullabaloo and he's quick to win the confidence of those with whom he is associated. And, most important of all, he knows that a successful baseball team cannot function with interference from the "front office."

Briefly Mr. Burnett's policy is this: Hire a man you think's a good manager and let him run the ball club on the field.

The Monroe club has a good manager in Eddie Hock. And Mr. Burnett had it thoroughly understood at the first directors' meeting that Eddie Hock would run the club and nobody, not even Burnett himself, will have the right to tell Eddie what should or should not be done on the field. In other words, it's up to Hock. If he succeeds he's got a good job as long as he wants it. If he doesn't succeed with material that should produce a winner, he'll be replaced after it becomes apparent that he can't make the club click. But he won't be continually hounded by officers and directors who think they know more than the manager. At least, Hock understands Burnett's policy and if he lets an officer or a director worry him with all kinds of crazy suggestions, that's Eddie's own hard luck. He doesn't have to "take it" to hold his job.

"Unless Eddie happens to tell me before a game, I won't even know who's going to pitch," Burnett said. "We will attempt to furnish Eddie the material he wants. If he thinks a player won't be able to fill his position satisfactorily, he'll tell us and we'll try to get someone better for that position. It's going to be strictly up to Hock. He will be the sole judge of his players."

The directors were thoroughly in accord with Burnett's views and thus it's assured that the Monroe club will not be handicapped by "front office" interference.

Burnett, incidentally, is no Santa Claus. He's got a big roll, to be sure, but don't think he doesn't know what it's all about. He's a practical baseball man. All of which reminds us of a story told about Walter Briggs, owner of the Detroit Tigers, when he first met his scouts during the recent New York baseball meetings. Briggs asked them how they arrived at a price to offer for major league prospects. After the scouts had explained their various methods, Briggs told 'em:

"We've got plenty of money and if you see a ball player we want, don't hesitate to go the limit if you think he's a major league prospect. We'll make some poor investments, as all clubs have done in purchasing promising looking players, but there's one thing I want to ask all of you. Don't let 'em call you Santa Claus."

THE NEW PREXY

The selection of Dr. W. L. Bendel as president of the Monroe ball club should be popular. No man in Monroe has done more for athletics than Dr. Bendel and no man is a more enthusiastic sportsman.

Dr. Bendel has given much of his time, money and services to various sports events and sports competitors, and there's no more willing worker for the cause, whether it be baseball, football, boxing, basketball, softball or any other form of athletics.

Bill has hundreds of friends and not an enemy that we know of. The announcement of his election as president of the club brought forth many expressions of approval. If anyone deserves the honor of heading a successful sports enterprise—and we sincerely believe this one will be successful—it's Bill Bendel.

BASKETBALL STARS

The parade of Missouri Valley A. A. U. basketball stars began at Brown gym last week. It continues Monday and Tuesday nights with more "big names" of the hardwood.

Jack McCracken, Duck Dowell, Bob Gruenig—those are three of the "big names" of the Denver Safeways—lead the parade into town tomorrow. Others on the squad may be as good as that trio, but they're not quite as famous. These stars pack 'em in from coast to coast, and it's evident that a capacity crowd will be out for the two-game series here.

When Brown joined the Missouri Valley circuit they made the best basketball in the nation available for local fans. A sample of A. A. U. play was doled out last week, and the games this week will present an even better team than the Kansas City quintet. The support of the Brown games demonstrates that the fans will pay to see high class attractions, and that's encouraging for all athletics in this community.

16 CANDIDATES TO SEEK PLACES ON TECH MITT TEAM

Bulldogs Prepare For Second Year Of Boxing; Baseball Card Announced

RUSTON, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—Boxing, introduced as an intercollegiate sport at Louisiana Tech last year, has attracted 16 candidates for the 1937 season here, Coach Eddie Wojecki has announced.

Meets have been scheduled with eight college teams, the opening engagement to be with Southwestern Louisiana institute at Ruston on Thursday night, January 21.

Although the list of Tech mittmen covers a wide range in weights, Coach Wojecki says that he may join the team again as a 118-pounder if the material in that class falls short. Last year Wojecki was trainer and coach of the local beakbusters and also was one of the "doers and diers" in the ring.

The Tech boxing squad this year will miss John Roy Black of Bienville, a promising 130-pound man of 1936, who was killed in an automobile accident near Quitman during the Christmas holidays.

The 16 aspirants for the Bulldog mitt team reporting to Coach Wojecki are as follows:

Hubert Graves, Shreveport, 135; Johnny Calton, Columbia, 175; Dale Newsom, Shongaloo, 165; Herschell (Wimpy) Giddens, Ringgold, 200; Chick Leach, Shreveport, 175; John Wiley, Birmingham, Ala., 145; Edwin Barker, Benton, Ark., 165; Horace Thompson, Shreveport, 135; Charles Hoover, Birmingham, Ala., 135; Ray Sheppard, Trees, 125; Jimmie Mulhern, Rayville, 135; J. C. Hicks, Olla, 118; Alfred Bond, Bossier City, 125; Henry Lowe, Minden, 118; Don Wiley, Birmingham, Ala., 155, and Ray Tanner, Homer, 160.

Only three of these candidates are previous members of the Tech boxing team. They are "Wimpy" Giddens, Don Wiley and Charles Hoover.

The following boxing schedule has been announced:

January 21—Southwestern at Ruston.

February 5—Centenary at Ruston.

February 10—Tulane at New Orleans.

February 11—Southwestern at Lafayette.

February 16—Oklahoma A. and M. at Ruston.

GOOD-PINE QUINT MEETS BOLTON TUESDAY NIGHT

JENA, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—The Good Pine High school Red Devils, who have won 13 out of 15 games this season, will meet the Bolton High school Bears of Alexandria Tuesday night in the Good Pine gymnasium.

Good Pine lost its second game of the season several weeks ago to the State Champion Jena Giants by a score of 42-9 but the score did not indicate that the Jena team was 33 points better than the Red Devils. The Good Pine boys were in hard luck in the Jena game and the champs were working at their best form so far this season. Good Pine lost its other game to the Manifest Tigers, who have defeated Jena twice this year. The Red Devils have one of the strongest teams in central Louisiana while the Bolton Bears have always had a strong squad in basketball circles.

HAROLD SALMON NAMED ORLEANS CLUB OFFICER

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Harold Salmon was elected today vice-president of the New Orleans Pelicans Baseball club, succeeding his father, the late Leon Salmon.

Fred E. Baehr was re-elected president, Martin Heitzman secretary-treasurer and Macon Jones road secretary.

Larry Gilbert's contract as manager of the team was renewed.

L. S. U. ELEVEN AWARDED FOREMAN, CLARK TROPHY

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 9.—(AP)—The Foreman and Clark trophy, emblematic of the national football championship, won by Southern Methodist university in 1935, will be sent to Louisiana State university at Baton Rouge immediately, James Stewart, S. M. U. athletic director, said today.

The Tigers were awarded the trophy for the past season under the ratings of Deke Houlgate, Los Angeles grid statistician.

CAGE TOURNEY TO BE HELD JAN. 29 AT N. E. CENTER

More Than 75 Schools Invited To Compete In Meet For Boys And Girls

More than seventy-five high schools throughout north and central Louisiana have been invited to Monroe to participate in an invitational basketball tournament to be held here January 29 and 30 at Northeast Center of L. S. U., it was announced yesterday by Dean S. A. Caldwell. The tourney will be for both boys and girls.

Dr. W. M. Caskey, of the Northeast Center faculty, has been named by Dean Caldwell as secretary of the tournament and will be in charge of affairs pertaining to the meet.

Dean Caldwell, in the invitation he sent out to practically every high school in the area early this week, said this was not to be a district tournament, but that steps could be taken by coaches and principals of the various schools to make it a district organization with annual tournaments.

Entry blanks were sent out Thursday by Dr. Caskey, who said he would be glad to furnish coaches and principals with any additional matter concerning the tournament. Dr. Caskey will keep the entries posted as to awards, officials and other information on the tourney.

Wednesday, January 27, has been set as the deadline for entries, Dr. Caskey said.

Numerous awards to teams and individual performers, with duplicates to boys and girls, will be made at the conclusion of the meet.

Among the awards for winners are trophies to first, second and third place winners in both divisions of the tournament. Miniature gold, silver and bronze basketballs will be given the members of the three top ranking boys and girls' teams. Sportsmanship medals will be given to boys and girls, with probably three such medals in each division being awarded, Dr. Caskey said.

The all-star teams of northeast Louisiana will also be selected at the close of the meet.

Dr. Caskey stated that teams failing to get invitations could enter by sending requests for entry blanks.

NEW 'B' LOOP TO BE FORMED TODAY

Ganzel Says Six Clubs Assured For Proposed Southeastern Circuit

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Baseball representatives from eight cities will meet here tomorrow with R. P. (Babe) Ganzel, former major leaguer and a representative of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, in what they hope will be final organization plans for the Southeastern league, a class B circuit.

Ganzel said tonight that although eight cities would be represented tomorrow, prospects were for a six-club league.

"I believe we have five towns definitely on the line," Ganzel said, "but the sixth club needs a backer. Several cities are after the sixth franchise and the strongest probably will get it."

Ganzel said Billie West, president of the Birmingham Barons of the Southern association, J. Burt and Bill Morrell, manager of the Panama City club operated by the Barons, told him yesterday they would attend the meeting at Montgomery.

Representatives of cities seeking franchises in the league are:

Mobile, C. C. Huxford and Ben Huxford; Pensacola, L. C. Hagler and J. M. Barbee; Jackson, Miss., George Brannon, former owner of a franchise there, Selma, Maurice I. Bloch, operator of the Selma club in the old Southeastern league; Montgomery, Harry Hatcher of Jacksonville, Fla.; Gadsden, Sam Petterson and Bernard Street.

Hatcher, Jacksonville hotel operator, has announced he would operate the Montgomery club.

Anniston, Ala., will be represented by DeWitt Carmichael and Bill Deyo; and Meridian, Miss., by D. O. Rawlins and Jim Moss. There is a possibility these cities may build the Southeastern into an eight-club league, Ganzel said.

PROPOSED TITLE BATTLE EXPECTED TO BE CALLED OFF

Champ's Manager Suggests Canceling Match As Opposition Spreads

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The boycott of the James J. Braddock-Max Schmeling heavyweight championship fight picked up momentum today.

Max Schmeling

The Jewish war veterans of the United States, 250,000 strong, threw their support to the non-sectarian anti-Nazi league, the A. F. of L. and various Catholic and Protestant organizations seeking to stop the fight from being held in this country.

Harry H. Schaffer, commander-in-chief of the veterans, announced here he is notifying the 150 posts throughout the country to withhold support from the fight.

The boycott was launched by the anti-Nazi league as part of its program to oppose German goods, shipping and services.

Some of the country's biggest names are members of the league. Samuel Untermyer, New York lawyer, is president. James W. Gerard, war time ambassador to Germany, and Mayor LaGuardia are among the vice-presidents and J. David Stern, publisher of the Philadelphia Record and New York Post, is treasurer.

Although Madison Square Garden and the 20th Century Sporting club, joint promoters of the fight, continued to withhold comment, belief was general along Broadway that the battle is doomed.

Reports that it may be taken to Chicago or some other city were discounted following the league's statement that the boycott is general and can be made just as effective in Chicago as in New York.

"We are going to ruin this fight from a financial point of view," said S. William Kalb, head of the league's research department, who is directing the boycott.

The league notified Madison Square Garden of its intentions and also asked the New York State Athletic commission to rescind its approval of the fight in "the interests of humanity and democracy."

In a letter to Colonel John Reed Kilpatrick, Garden president, J. George Fredman, member of the league's executive committee, asked the Garden to discontinue plans for the fight.

Telegrams urging the boycott were sent to league affiliates in other parts of the country.

Joe Gould, manager of Braddock, reiterated his statement that if the boycott goes into effect he will not permit Braddock to fight the German.

"My job is to make money for Jim," he said. "We can't do it under conditions like that."

SCHMELING PLEADS

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Appeals to American fair-play came from Max Schmeling today when news of a movement to boycott the forthcoming heavyweight championship fight between Schmeling and Braddock reached Germany.

"I believe the American public is too fair to be influenced by a political campaign against a sportsman like me who never went in for politics," Schmeling said.

While the Teuton boxer confidently put the decision up to the American public, German papers universally greeted news of the boycott with indignation.

"Schmeling heckled in unbelievable way by U. S. A. Jews," was the way the newspaper Angriff headlined its front page. Angriff likewise ridiculed assertions Schmeling would be made honorary leader of the German youth movement by Chancellor Hitler in the event he defeated Braddock and regained the heavyweight championship.

Angriff termed the boycott movement "crazy and malicious."

The newspaper Nachtausgabe called the boycott an "evil-minded attempt to blackmail the promoters" and saw it an effort to side-track Schmeling in favor of a match between Braddock and Joe Louis, the negro whom Schmeling knocked out in such sensational fashion last summer.

"We cannot assume," said the Tageblatt, "that true Americans will deny the traditions of fairness and chivalrous treatment of competitors which are common to all Anglo-Saxon nations."

VANDY TRIMS TEACHERS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Lanky Dave Coleman led the Vanderbilt Commodores to a 39 to 12 victory tonight over Middle Tennessee Teachers in their first home game of the season. Coach Jim Buford's team opened the season a week ago with a 39-30 triumph over the same team. Coleman tallied 14 points to gain offensive honors in impressive style.

Humpty Dumpty, a real baron, tumbled from power in King John's time.

THE BROWNIES MEET THESE STARS TOMORROW NIGHT

NEVILLE BOXERS MEET LAFAYETTE

Tigers Reported In Good Shape For Matches In South Louisiana Friday

The mittmen of Neville High school will go to Lafayette for a dual-meet with the strong Lafayette High school team Friday night.

The Bengals, defending district champions and runners-up in the state tournament last spring, opened against Bastrop here on December 22 and were held to a close 10 to 9 victory. Indications are that the locals will have rougher going in their dual matches this year than they had last season when they won 14 straight.

Competition for places on the Neville team has been exceptionally keen this year, and Coach Percy Brown is still undecided about some of his starters. The locals will have representatives in everyone of the twelve weight divisions.

Lafayette will have a boxer in every weight with the exception of heavyweight, and the south Louisiana team has several good boxers, including Arceneaux, defending 135-pound state champion; and Guidry, veteran 165-pounder.

The Lafayette team roster, as announced here yesterday, is:

90-pounds, Eisler; 98-pounds, Howard; 105-pounds, Lahaye or Kilchrist; 112-pounds, Landry; 118-pounds, White; 126-pounds, Domingue or Olivier; 135-pounds, Arceneaux or Patin, 145-pounds, Patin or Gecoux; 155-pounds, Gecoux, Hoffpauir or Logan; 165-pounds, Guidry; and 175-pounds, Broussard.

Neville's top ranking boxers are:

90-pounds, Doyne DeMasterson, Buck Brantley and Elton Brady; 98-pounds, Billy Hart and Guy Miller; 105-pounds, Tony Lasuzzo and A. Danna; 112-pounds, Pat Cole and Talmadge Stout; 118-pounds, Marvin Spaugh and Billy Gates; 126-pounds, Robert Gates, Ernest Pierce and Julius McKnight; 135-pounds, Vaughan Payne; 145-pounds, Howard Earl; 155-pounds, Walter Brady; 165-pounds, Perry Snyder; 175-pounds, Ray Spicer; and heavyweight, Robert St. John and Parker McGee.

Coach Brown stressed ring work all last week and topped the week's work with an inter-squad program in the Neville auditorium Friday afternoon with 350 spectators, mostly students, witnessing the fights.

At the close of the fights, Coach Brown announced that his charges were all in good condition and ready to begin their season's schedule.

Neville's next home card will be held at the school's auditorium next Friday week with Coach Quitman Long's strong Farmerville Farmers furnishing the opposition.

AUBURN WINS

AUBURN, Ala., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Getting the lead after five minutes of play and holding it throughout, Auburn's basketball team defeated the Ft Benning, Ga., soldiers here tonight, 35 to 20. Morgan, with 12 points, and Curlee, 10, were Auburn's scoring aces. Chatham led the Benning attack with seven points.

SCHMITT FIRST IN JACKSON DAY RUN

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9.—(AP)—George Schmitt of Louisiana State university, with a one-minute handicap, won the annual Jackson day run here today in the elapsed time of 45 minutes 57 seconds.

He also had the best actual time, 34 minutes 57 seconds, but was far off the record for the event set in 1931 by George Saunders of L. S. U., at 33 minutes 8 seconds.

Jack Stenson, also of L. S. U., finished second and Norton Girault, another Tiger, third.

The 61 year old Charlie Manson, who has been running in the race for the past 20 years, finished ninth, with a handicap of 10 minutes, in 47 minutes .5 seconds.

The race was run from Spanish Fort on Lake Pontchartrain to Jackson Square in the French quarter, the old route the pirate Jean Lafitte marched to come to the aid of General Andrew Jackson's troops in the war of 1812.

L. S. U. NOSES OUT RICE QUINT, 38-37

Desperate Owl Rally Fails To Knot Count And Tigers Sweep Series

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 9.—(AP)—A desperate Rice rally in the final five minutes of play fell one point short of tying the score and Louisiana State protected its undefeated record for 1937 here tonight with a 38 to 37 win over the Owls.

Paced by Arnold Bryan, Houston boy, the Tigers stepped out to a ten point lead just five minutes before the game was over but a hustling Owl combination all but erased that margin as long shots hit the mark.

CHATTANOOGA WINS

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 9.—(AP)—After trailing through the first ten minutes of play, the University of Chattanooga quintet rallied gamely to defeat the Georgia Bulldogs 27 to 20 tonight.

GRANT TROUNCES BUDGE FOR TITLE

Atlantan Makes Top-Ranking Star Look Like Novice At Coral Gables

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta made the country's top-ranking tennis player, Donald Budge, look like a novice today by trimming him 6-2, 7-5, 6-0, to win the Miami Biltmore tennis tournament.

The freckle-faced redhead from Oakland, Calif., a heavy hitter, couldn't get a ball past his little opponent, Budge, whose usually severe serve was gone completely, won his own service only four times.

In the love set, after double faulting on game point at the start, Budge appeared to acknowledge he was beaten.

Grant, ranked third nationally, ran the opening set to 5-1, after Budge took the first game on his own serve, before the westerner, crowding the net, eked out another game.

Then Grant, blasting away from the baseline with several shots that were aces, took the next one. On set point Budge's return caught the tape atop the net and fell back on his own side.

Budge double-faulted twice in the first game of the second set. They won each other's services to 2-all and Bitsy took the next two games on deep, well-placed drives. Budge came up to a 5-4 lead, however, principally on the strength of his net play and Grant settled down to a dogged fight. The Californian was behind 15-40 in the tenth game on his own service but captured four straight points. The next two games, fought from the baselines, were Grant's on his steadiness.

Budge and his partner, Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., continued their doubles sweep in the quarter-finals, eliminating Dick Morris of Orlando and Mac McAllister of Miami, 6-2, 6-3. Frankie Parker of Milwaukee and Gardnar Mulloy of Miami defeated Elwan Cooke of Los Angeles and Vernon Marcum of Orlando, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

On the other side of the bracket, Grant and Wayne Sabin of Los Angeles disposed of John Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., and Marion Reese of Atlanta, 6-3, 6-4, while Richardo Morales and Gustavo Vollmer, the Cuban team, defeated Charles Harris of Palm Beach and Carroll Turner of Miami, 6-1, 6-1.

Semi-finals and finals in the doubles will be played tomorrow.

MISSISSIPPI STATE FIVE EASILY TRIMS FLORIDA

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Mississippi State scored a 33 to 16 victory over Florida tonight in a fast basketball game played before the largest crowd ever to assemble in the Gator gym.

A crowd of approximately 2,000 saw the Maroons' crack forward, Walters, score 13 points to gain individual honors and give his team the margin over the Gators.

The Maroons took command from the opening whistle when Stone dropped in the first basket.

COLORADO SQUAD IS STRONG ENTRY IN A. A. U. LEAGUE

Several All-Americas Included On Team Of Towering Cage Stars

Presenting a galaxy of basketball stars rivaling that of any team in the nation, the Denver Safeways provide the opposition for Brown Paper mill's next test in Missouri Valley A. A. U. league competition. The Safeways, better known as the Denver Pigs, play at Brown gym Monday and Tuesday nights, the Monday game being designated the official league contest.

The Safeways are co-favorites with the Phillips 66 club of Bartlesville in the Missouri Valley race. Their roster includes five players who have won all-America berths during the past few years. There isn't a player under six feet in height on the Denver entry.

Here are thumbnail sketches of the outstanding members of the squad:

Jack McCracken, six feet, three inches, 175 pounds. Has starred for Safeways-Pigs for past four years. All-America both as A. A. U. and high school player. Paced the famous Maryville Teachers to 63 consecutive victories during college career.

Duck Dowell, six feet, three inches, 190 pounds. Also four years with Denver club and a teammate of McCracken on Maryville Teachers. All-America in 1932.

Werner Frank, six feet, one inch, 180 pounds. Member of national championship Globe Refiners last year and played in Monroe with that team. Played with Lifschultz Freighters in Chicago two years, one year with Rosenberg-Averys, also of Chicago. All-America. All-Illinois high school star and all-Big Ten when at Wisconsin university.

Bob Gruenig, six feet, seven inches, 195 pounds. All-America two years. With Safeway-Pigs two years. Former Northwestern university star. With Lifschultz Freighters and Rosenberg-Averys before joining Pigs.

Jack "Tex" Colvin, six feet, five inches, 180 pounds. Another all-America. With Ogden Boosters 1934-35 and with Hutchinson Transits last year. Forward on strong West Texas Teachers quintet and named all-T. I. A. forward for two years.

Bernard Cowden, six feet, two inches, 180 pounds. With Safeway-Pigs three years. Another former Maryville Teachers star.

Other members of the Denver squad, all of whom were outstanding college players but who have not had much A. A. U. experience as the above named players, are Lew Young, six feet, six inches tall and weighs 210 pounds, a former Wyoming university ace; Foots Masteller, six feet one inch tall, weight 160 pounds, former Cape Girardeau star; O'Dell Floyd, six feet, six inches tall, weighs 170 pounds, former Southeastern Teacher player; Joe Fee, six feet, one inch, weight 165 pounds, former Washburn college ace; and Jim Bauer, six feet, one inch, weight 170 pounds, an Eastern conference star with Western State last season.

The Safeways have lost but one game this season, and that to the Bartlesville club by four points. Two of Coach Everett Shelton's stars were out of action that night and Denver cage fans believe the Pigs will even matters when they meet the Phillips club again.

The Brownies went through a strenuous workout Friday and yesterday following their 32-17 defeat at the hands of the Kansas City Tigers Thursday, and Manager Cary Phillips said last night that the Millers should be at top form for their important test Monday night. After beating Santa Fes in the official league contest Wednesday night, the Brownies played sluggishly at times Thursday but Manager Phillips believes several defects in their play have been corrected in the two workouts.

Phillips and Theo Alford will start at the forward posts, with Gene Dumary at center and Ed Shaver and Frank Bryski at guards.

Phillips said last Tuesday that he was seeking another outstanding player but he had nothing more definite to announce last night.

Alvin Bell, a "master" official of the Missouri Valley league, will referee Monday night's game with "Lefty" Haynes will umpire. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

TECH'S BANQUET SET FOR JAN.

Football Schedule For 19 Expected To Be Announced At Dinner

RUSTON, La., Jan. 9.—(Special) Louisiana Tech's football schedule for 1937, still incomplete, is expected to be announced as a feature of the annual banquet to honor the local college gridders on January 2, at 7 p.m.

The dinner will be sponsored by Ruston Kiwanis club, according to L. F. Green, president of that organization, the members of the club selling tickets for the event. The banquet will be held at the First Baptist church here, with the Women's Missionary Society of the church serving.

Awards to members of the varsity and freshman football teams of Tech will be presented at the affair. Other entertainment features will be arranged by Coach Eddie McLane, Coach Green stated.

The Tech grid card for this year will consist of 10 games, Coach McLane has indicated. Engagements are Ole Miss at Oxford, with Centenary at Ruston, and with the University of Tampa at Tampa, Fla., are said to have been booked, but the rest of the schedule is being delayed pending definite arrangement of dates.

WESTENBERG AND M'CLARY ON TUESDAY CARD

SOUTHERN MAT CHAMP TO MEET 290 POUND FOE

'Goon' Henry And Otto Kuss, Two Newcomers, Signed For Semi-Final

Wrestling fans who have long awaited the chance to see Marvin Westenberg, southern mat champion, given a thorough going over may get that opportunity next Tuesday night. Mr. Westenberg, who ran roughshod over all opposition at Roosevelt stadium last year and became rather unpopular because of it, will oppose the 290-pound Pat McClary, who hasn't lost a match here, in the main event of the weekly wrestling card at the stadium.

In the semi-final, two newcomers, both with outstanding records, have been signed. They are Jim "Goon" Henry, 240-pound Oklahoma villain, and Otto Kuss, clever easterner.

Westenberg will return to the local mat wars after an absence of a couple of months. The Southern champ appeared here regularly throughout the summer and fall last year and compiled an impressive string of victories. In fact, some of the customers dubbed him the "Monroe champ" and it became apparent that some big fellow with plenty of power and a measure of speed would have to be brought in if Marvin was to be beaten.

Now it looks like Promoter Phil Lisotta has found a grappler who is capable of providing a most unpleasant evening for Westenberg. Lisotta, of course, swears that he isn't trying to "frame" the Southern champ or anything of the kind, but there was a malicious gleam in his eye when he announced that the 290-pound roughhouse artist would be thrown in there against the champion. The general impression has gotten out that it would be well worth the price of admission just to see Marvin given a thorough shellacing.

McClary should be the man to turn the trick. His size and power, of course, give him quite an advantage over any 230-pounder. Then, too, he knows plenty of holds with which to torture his playmates. So it looks like Mr. Westenberg's number is up Tuesday night.

Another sensational performer is "Goon" Henry. He's a first class villain whose pet "holds" are the dropkick and the tackle, plus a varied assortment of illegal tactics. He has an unusual build; in fact, it is said that he reminds one of Segar's Plunder Island character in Popeye when he humps over and starts his attack. He has a heavy body, a thick chest, long arms and piano legs. He's six feet, four inches tall and weighs 240 pounds. "Goon's" home is in Hartshore, Okla., and he is a product of Tulsa university. He played quite a bit of football for the Golden Hurricane during his college career.

Lisotta has been attempting to book Otto Kuss, Henry's opponent Tuesday night, for quite a while, he said. Kuss is an experienced grappler and knows all the holds, as well as most of the tricks of the game. He can match science with any of 'em, or if his foes prefer to rough it up a bit, he can hold his own with his fists.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls, with the main event having a two-hour time limit and the semi-final limited to one hour. Officials for the card have not been announced.

FLORIDA MITTMEN DEFEAT MAROONS

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Florida's fighting 'Gators opened their 1937 boxing season tonight with a 5 to 3 victory over Mississippi State.

Two 1935 Southeast conference champions appeared on the program which featured two technical knockouts. A near capacity crowd witnessed the bouts.

The summary:

In the 119-pound class, L. S. Rentz, Florida, outpointed I. Q. Lambert, to gain the decision.

Murray, Mississippi State, took a close decision over Roy Echols, in the 129 class.

Tom Rand, Mississippi State, used a peculiar stance in the 139-pound class to gain the judges' decision over Larry Lemmens.

Jack Long, Florida, scored a technical knockout over Ed Laughlin, in the second round in the 149-pound class.

In the 159-pound class, Henry Keel, Florida, gained a decision over Dick Bradley.

Bert Reddoch, Mississippi State, defaulted to Steve O'Connell in the 169-pound class.

Carl Inman, last year's Southeast champion of Mississippi State, scored a technical knockout over Ernest Lorenz, in the 179-pound class.

MEDAL PLAY TO BE RESUMED IN AMATEUR MEETS

Return To Qualifying Tests At Start Of Tourneys Ordered By U. S. G. A.

By Bob Cavagnaro

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The day of rugged individualism in American amateur golf is over.

For competitive and financial reasons, the annual meeting of the United States Golf association today tossed out the all-match play form of combat which for the past three years has turned the amateur title tournament into a golfing dobbybrook, and returned to the former system of a championship qualifying round.

Effective with this year's championship, to be played over the links of the Alderwood Country club at Portland, Ore., August 23-28, survivors of the customary sectional qualifying rounds will engage in a two-day 36-hole medal test. The low 64 scorers will swing into match play, with all matches up to the semi-finals at 18 holes. The semi-finals and finals will be at 36 holes.

The system is an innovation in the sense that, while returning to the old pattern, the championship quota has been increased from 32 to 64. Thus, there'll still be a chance for the longhorns of the links to stampede the favorites, especially in the four 18-hole rounds to be played on the third and fourth days.

Abandonment of the all hand-to-hand conflict was urged by a large group of golfers. It has been under consideration for two years, a year after the British amateur championship idea was given its baptism at Brookline, Mass., in 1934.

Now the U. S. G. A. proposes to give the competitors and the golf fan what amounts to two tournaments for the price of one.

More than $12,000 was collected in admissions for the three days of the United States Open championship at Baltusrol last June as against the $5,626.66 "gate" for the six days of last year's amateur at Garden City. Officials didn't say so but they hope inclusion of medal play in the amateur will stimulate public interest and swell receipts.

The way the championship stands now, sectional qualifying rounds, expected to attract around 1,200 hopefuls at $5 a head, will be played July 25. The champion his field will number not fewer than 160 competitors including former titleholders and foreign contenders who will be exempt from the district tests but now must qualify at the scene of the championship.

PERRY SUBDUES VINES IN 3 SETS

Briton Rips Through Ailing Californian Before 12,000 At Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 9. — (AP) — Broad-shouldered Fred Perry, brilliant British star, who relinquished the world amateur tennis throne to play the game for money, ripped through ailing Ellsworth Vines in straight sets tonight, 6-0, 6-2, 6-3 for his third consecutive triumph of their tour, before 12,602 spectators in the Chicago stadium.

Vines, ill with a cold since the tour opened in New York Wednesday night, said before the match that he felt "much better," but to the spectators, who paid $21,242 to watch the slatlike Californian did not look it except for rare flashes. Slow afoot and apparently too weary to run much, he dropped the first set in jig-time.

The smiling Perry maneuvered Vines into frequent errors in the opening set and continued his pace through the first game of the second. Vines opened up in the second game for his first win, but after carrying the third to deuce four times, again tired and Perry assumd command to win three more in a row. The professional title holder of 1936 won the sixth game on his service, but once more slowed down and dropped the next two and the set.

Vines made his best effort of the evening the final set. After Perry had romped through the first two games, tall Ellsworth hauled himself together and as the crowd did its noisiest applauding, won three games in a row to have the edge for the only time of the match.

Doing more running and less reaching for Perry's shots, Vines started his rally after the British lion had the situation at games points in the third. He worked the count to deuce and took the game by luring Perry to the net and blazing the ball down the sideline.

Vines continued his warm pace through the next two games, going ahead by working Perry into errors. Perry inserted a little comedy, bowing to the ball as it sped past him on a neat placement, but after a wobbly start in the sixth game, again took charge and finished the match quickly.

Some Australian tribes of savages, even today, make excellent arrowheads out of broken glass bottles, using only primitive tools in chipping them to the desired shape. A deadly weapon of razor sharpness thus is obtained.

'FARMER' DIES

Martin "Farmer" Burns, holder of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship from 1895 to 1898, died at his home in Council Bluffs, Iowa. Burns was 77 years old.

'FARMER' BURNS SUCCUMBS AT 77

Dean Of Professional Wrestlers Connected With Sport For 60 Years

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The body of Martin "Farmer" Burns—the 170 pounder who wrestled his way to the world's championship—lay in state at a mortuary here today.

Friends and fans, a number of both the world's champion and the sport, flocked by the score to the mortuary to pay their respects.

The funeral will be held at the Catholic church at Treynor, Iowa, Monday with burial in the family plot there.

"The Farmer" as he first grappling boutsman, a title he held for 15 years—at the age of thirty. He went on to champion in 1895, holding that title until 1898, when Tom Jenkins of Canada beat him.

About a year later Burns [illegible] meet [illegible] Young Iowa farmer [illegible] Frank Gotch in the ring at Fort Dodge, Ia. The Farmer threw Gotch in 11 minutes and 40 seconds, he mentioned to the crowd for others and said:

"I never have met an amateur wrestler the like of this fellow in my life. If he will come with me I'll make him champion."

Gotch went with him. Burns made good his promise. Gotch eventually retired undefeated.

Burns, who at no time during his career weighed more than 170 pounds for his important matches, said his success resulted from his clean method of living and the great strength of his shoulders and neck. To demonstrate the strength of his neck muscles he once was "hanged" at Rockford, Ill.

"I made a drop of eight and a half inches," he said. "I wanted to go the full six feet but they were so scared they would'n't let me."

Burns from the time he threw his playmate on the family farm in Cedar county, Ia., until he ceased active competition and training work, was connected with wrestling for more than 50 years. He hated modern wrestling, saying:

"It's a shame to degrade such a fine sport."

STADIUM BOOKS BOXING PROGRAM

Card Of Five Bouts Between Negro Fighters Slated For Thursday Night

Boxing returns to Roosevelt stadium next Thursday night when Promoter Phil Lisotta and Matchmaker Charlie Feraci present a card of five matches, totaling 30 rounds, between negro fighters.

Headlining the show is a 10-round bout between Tiger Steward, hard hitting New Orleans welterweight who scored a technical knockout over Joe Gullev last Tuesday night, and Lightfoot Baby, 148-pound Bastrop slugger. Steward is a good battler and probably will be the favorite over the Bastrop negro, but the Baby is said to pack a wallop in each mitt and a victory for him would not be surprising to his backers.

Other matches are as follows:

Kid Harris, 140, New Orleans, vs. Battling Howard, 141, Bastrop, six rounds.

Ivory Smith, 130, Monroe, vs. Kid Napoleon, 126, Monroe, six rounds.

Prentice Jackson, 122, Monroe, vs. Charlie Lewis, 120, Monroe, four rounds.

Jimmie Miles, 126, Monroe, vs. Willie Savannah, 126, Monroe, four rounds.

The boxers have been working out at the stadium for the past couple of weeks and are in excellent condition, Feraci said.

Special sections for white and colored patrons will be reserved at the stadium. Admission prices are 40 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, Lisotta announced.

COOPER AND TWO 'DARK HORSES' IN VAN AT HALFWAY

Trio Holds One-Stroke Margin In Battle For $8,000 Prize Money

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—(AP)—"Light Horse Harry" Cooper and two "dark horse" entries, Jules Huot of Canada and Art Bell of Pasadena, Calif., ran a dead heat late today to lead at the halfway stage of the $8,000, 72-hole Los Angeles Open.

Cooper, now considered the man to beat, posted a 70 for a 36-hole of 139. The Chicagoan looked safe until the two surprise contenders rounded onto the 18th green.

Huot, former Canadian pro champion from Quebec, smacked five strokes off the par 71 course for 66, putting it with a first round 73.

Bell thrilled a gallery of several thousand with a 67 to go with his 72.

One stroke back were two more "dark horses," Zell Eaton of Oklahoma City, 73-67—140, and Al Krueger, baseball player-pro golfer from Beloit, Wis., 70-70—140.

Grouped at 142 were three of the greatest money players in the country, Horton Smith of Chicago, with par 71-71—142, Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., 72-70—142, and Ralph Guldahl of St. Louis, 70-72—142.

Tied with them were Gray Madison of Phoenix, Ariz., and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and one stroke back were five more pros who refuse to be counted out.

The Lucky ends with the 18-hole finals Monday.

Deadlocked at 143 are Jimmy Hines, Garden City, Long Island, who won the meet last year, long driving Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee, Pa.; Paul Runyan, the pro master from White Plains, N. Y.; Willie Goggin of San Bruno, Calif., and Al Zimmerman, Portland, Ore.

Officials at the charity fight Monday night gave Ettore the fight by a two to one vote.

VENZKE BEATEN BY CUNNINGHAM

Kansan Turns In Good Time; Herb Weust Sets New 100 Meter Record

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—An "unknown" sprinter, Herb Weust, Columbia sophomore, stole the show from a flock of Olympic stars at the Columbus Council, Knights of Columbus, games tonight by shattering the world indoor 100-meter dash record.

Weust sped over the board of the 160th Infantry armory in 10.6 seconds in the final race of the spring series after trouncing Marty Glickman, Syracuse star and United States Olympic team member, in the shorter event. The accepted indoor record of 10.8 was set by Bob McAllister in 1927 and equalled three years later by Karl Wildermuth.

This feat overshadowed the better-than-average times of Glenn Cunningham, in beating his old rival Gene Venzke in the 880-meter feature, and of Indiana's Don Lash in the 3,000-meter event.

Letting loose with his blazing drive in the last 100 meters, the burly Kansan, world record holder at half-mile and mile outdoors, first passed Venzke and then Bill Ray of Manhattan as he drove to outstay by a six-meter margin in 1:50 4. Venzke passed Ray in the final strides to take runner-up honors behind the runner he beat four times at a mile last year.

Rivaling Cunningham's victory over Venzke for interest on the program was the great race turned in by Indiana's Don Lash in winning the 3,000-meter run.

Meeting Joe McCluskey, National indoor Steeplechase champion, and six other lesser known rivals, the great Hoosier athlete ran the metric equivalent of two miles in the scintillating time of 8:02 4. McCluskey was 75 meters back in second, place as Lash topped all except the former Fordham star.

Marty Glickman, Syracuse Olympic representative, lost to Weust in the 100 meter dash but came through in the 60 and 80 meter event to win the sprint series.

After finishing second to Glickman in both of the shorter events, Weust clipped two tenths of a second off the world's indoor record for the century when he was clocked in 10.6. The old mark of 10.8 was held jointly by Bob McAllister and Karl Wildermuth. Eddie O'Sullivan, third in all three sprints also was applied for record recognition at 10.8.

COLLEGES JOIN IN REVOLT AGAINST GOVERNMENT TAX

State-Supported Schools Contend U. S. Can't Levy On Admissions

By Dillon Graham

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The hoary old questions of states rights confronted the government today in a new guise—the objections of state-supported colleges to paying the federal sports admission tax.

Indications were that the supreme court might be the final arbiter.

Already four schools have informed the internal revenue bureau they will not pay the 10 per cent tax. Three cases have reached court. Other institutions are waiting developments before taking a stand.

Government attorneys said they expect the supreme court will be requested to review one of the pending cases.

The College of William and Mary in Virginia was the latest to object. Yesterday it formally denied the government's right either to compel a state institution to collect taxes or to levy and collect taxes from a state institution. Refusing to pay future taxes, the college also will seek a refund of levies paid in the last four years.

In Atlanta Tuesday Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood enjoined the government from collecting football game taxes from the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech. He said:

"Athletic programs and contests for which admission is charged, under the decision of the court of appeals in this case, are an essential governmental function of the state of Georgia."

The government argued football was a business and that men were hired specifically to play football.

Federal efforts to collect taxes from the University of Iowa already have reached two courts and a suit has been instituted to collect from the University of Minnesota.

The colleges involved now are all state-operated. Private institutions could not use their arguments and likely would not be affected by decisions favoring them.

Informed sources estimated Uncle Sam might lose $1,000,000 annually in revenue if the final decision goes against him.

An incidental question raised by the "revolt" of the colleges is what they would do with the tax money they have collected in the event they win their debate with the government. It would be almost impossible to return the tax to sports fans, for in most cases no record of ticket buyers is kept.

The National Collegiate Athletic association has a committee studying the whole problem and it is understood the association would like to see a test case taken to the highest court.

The World's Latest Market News

COTTON

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Irregularity prevailed on the cotton market here today and at the finish of trading both gains and losses were shown for active positions.

December closed at 12.37, March at 12.39, May at 12.28 and October at 11.85.

During the two hours of dealings the market recovered most of the early losses which were occasioned by lower Liverpool and bearish advices on the European situation.

Dealings were never active today and routine price fixing by mills and buying in of hedges by trade interests supplied the market with most of its support.

The July position was most actively traded and made the best gains of the day.

The trade ignored excellent advices from the cotton goods markets. Worth street reported sales of gray cloth and print construction at boom levels and prices were also sharply higher.

The market appeared firmly entrenched in a narrow trading range pending more information on selling of government loan cotton.

Cotton futures closed steady, net 2 points lower to 3 points higher.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Selected steels and specialties continued to push upward in today's stock market, but offerings in other categories were sufficient to put the brakes on the advance.

Efforts to settle the General Motors strike apparently were making little headway and many traders decided to cash in profits that had piled up during the past few sessions. Selling was well absorbed in most instances, however, and few weak spots were in evidence.

The rapid churning movement put the ticker tape behind occasionally and transfers approximated 1,400,000 shares.

While the major motor stocks were little better than even during the greater part of the session, Yellow Truck was a star performer with a gain of about two points at the best. White Motors also tilted forward. Demand for commercial vehicles was said to be keeping manufacturing operations at capacity.

Several low-priced aviation shares were exceptionally lively on prospects of further demand from governmental and private sources.

Up fractions to two were Vanadium, Bethlehem, Gulf States Steel, Omnibus, International Agriculture Corp., Pullman, Inspiration Copper, Magma Copper, Standard Oil of N. J., Western Union, Union Pacific, Houston Oil, Aviation Corp., North American Aviation, Douglas Aircraft and United Aircraft.

In a restricted groove were U. S. Steel, Goodyear, General Motors, Chrysler, Consolidated Edison, North American, Public Service of N. J., General Electric, Paramount and Warner Bros.

Bonds were uneven, along with commodities.

Brokerage quarters, after reading the monthly bulletin of the federal reserve board, were preparing for another hoist in bank reserve requirements. The boad placed customers' debit balances with commission houses at $1,364,000,000 at the end of November, the first total to surpass that of March 31, last year, when margins were lifted.

The steels found favor as President Grace announced Bethlehem intended to invest around $70,000,000 in new equipment. It was also believed the government would soon be in the market for a large amount of steel, not only for new battleships but for the completion of projects underway and additional construction activities.

KITTY JAILED IN DISPUTE

Through no fault of hers, Jackie Lou, a pretty Persian cat, was jailed at Hapeville, Ga. Mrs. H. S. Berry of Hapeville claims Jackie Lou and so does Herman Reed of Salina, Ohio. The judge of recorder's court ordered the cat jailed until he can investigate the rival claims. A kind-hearted policeman did all he could to make Jackie Lou's confinement pleasant. CHAPTER XXIV

During the remainder of the week Marcia busied herself with plans for the Saturday night party celebrating Dorothy Osborn's chance on the Broadway stage. She decided, with Helen Waddell, whose help she had enlisted, to deliver the invitations by telephone, and together they made out the list.

First, of course, the other members of the cast of "Half-Acre in Eden." Then the committees which had shared in producing the play, and after that the rest of the membership of the Stagecraft Guild. Thus the total Guild membership of nearly 200 was on the list of prospective guests, and, though some would probably be unable to attend, Marcia decided to invite no outsiders, since even Philip Canfield's spacious home had its limits.

Yet, as she and Helen commenced the tedious task of telephoning each name on the list, it was not long before Marcia had made an exception. The name Bradford was, of course, near the top, and Marcia was soon talking with Joan.

"The party's a grand idea," Joan said enthusiastically, "and I'll be tickled to death to come. I hope I can drag Mike out. You know how he is about parties. He'll try to alibi out of going, as usual. . . . Say, Marcia! I could let the old sourpuss have his way and bring Bruce McDougall."

Marcia explained the necessity for restricting the guests to members of the Guild. But even as she spoke she was conscious of wanting, very much, to invite the artist. Why not make one exception?

"Bring Mr. McDougall along anyway," Marcia said then. "Don't tell him he's the one outsider. And bring Mike, too, of course, if he'll come."

Joan Bradford called Bruce McDougall immediately. Mike, she said, couldn't take her to the party—she did not mention that Mike had not yet been questioned on the matter—and she must therefore be squired by the artist or be utterly desolated. McDougall accepted, with more cordiality in his voice than in his heart, and wondered, immediately after replacing the telephone receiver, why he had not refused. He did not want to go to Marcia Canfield's house. He was ready to admit that he was a baby and an idiot, but he absolutely did not want to see Marcia in her own home, perhaps with the fiance of whom he had heard.

He was not otherwise in communication with the Bradfords during the week, and on Saturday night arrived at their home in a taxi, prepared to find Joan alone. He was surprised, therefore, to be admitted by Mike, dressed not for imminent departure on one of his frequent evening assignments, but in all the glory of starched bosom and dinner coat, surmounted by an expression which combined the finer essences of hatred, despair and anti-social feeling.

"Are you going to the party after all?" McDougall asked.

"After all is right" said Mike with extreme feeling. "After all I could do! She gets me on a committee for their crazy show, she makes me go to see the thing, and now she hauls me out on a party that has no more excuse than that the show's been given. Next thing I know she'll have me in one of their plays, in tights, I'll bet you, and a plumed hat. She's my wife and I hate her. . . . Where are you, you double-crosser? Here's McDougall."

"Hi Bruce," said Joan, coming downstairs with a clatter of heels. "Don't mind Groucho. He's feeling nasty. Let's get started."

"Why, I thought he . . . you said . . ." McDougall began.

Because of Joan's haste, the three arrived at the party before any other guests, an incident which did not serve to improve Mike's humor. McDougall was feeling hardly gayer than Mike himself. On their way he had asked himself why Joan had invited him, since Mike was available as escort. Joan plainly did not care to be questioned. She had, McDougall decided, only wanted to give him diversion; she felt responsible for him as Mike's friend.

The whole affair was so new in McDougall's experience that he had no definitions for it. His desire for Marcia, as he had come so earnestly to desire her, was, he had long ago decided, impossible of fulfillment, and the fact that he nevertheless continued to desire her was, he angrily told himself, just whining. Why couldn't he give up, he demanded, when he had to give up? Why be a baby?

"Perhaps I'm prejudiced because I'm married to the brute," Joan whispered to him when they entered the house, "but even Mike has a sweeter expression than you have tonight. What's biting you?"

McDougall could not say that he felt like an intruder here, that he did not want the Bradfords to feel responsible for him in Bobbs Neck.

March was waiting for them when they came downstairs—Marcia and Helen Waddell, her co-hostess. Marcia and Helen, and a man.

"How nice to see you again," said Joan, in her best party manner, as he came forward. "This is a surprise. Did you come all the way from Chicago just for the party?"

"No—on business, but I was lucky enough to arrive in time for this, too," he said.

It was Marcia who introduced John Waddell and McDougall. The artist heard the name, but did not comprehend. No one in the midst of all the talk, thought to mention that the visitor was Helen's cousin.

"Of course," thought McDougall "—the man from Chicago! The man whom Marcia flew out to see, when there was trouble of some sort. Well, he doesn't look troubled, particularly. Looks very fit and confident, and, doggone it, like a very agreeable and thoroughly decent chap. Well, now I've seen him, met him. What did I expect him to be? Something to frighten little children?"

He recalled the bit of gossip he had overheard as he watched a rehearsal. "How silly of Marcia," Dorothy Osborn had said, "to fly after him." And the other woman had replied, "A woman does some funny things when she's in love with a man." From Dorothy, "I think I could give him up, under the circumstances." And from the other woman, "Marcia's different, I suppose."

"For heaven's sake, McDougall," the artist commanded himself, "snap out of it; wake up and live. This brooding is getting to be a neurotic habit."

Other guests had been arriving and McDougall, separated from the Bradfords, had been edged back towards the door to a still-deserted room. Philip Canfield's billiard room. There John Waddell approached him.

"Do you play?" the Chicagoan asked, nodding toward the lighted table.

McDougall brightened; the game was his favorite, for many weeks neglected.

"Yes. Do you?"

"My pal!" said John. "Let's leave the silliment and enjoy the true gentlemen's pastime."

RELIEF PROMISED FOR COLD AREAS

Several Lives Lost As Blizzards Hit In Some Sections

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The winter-weary west cheered a forecast of rising temperatures today.

Federal meteorologists promised relief over the week end in the states beset by snow and sub-zero cold.

Frigid weather handicapped plow crews but they cleared most major highways in the storm belt, although many secondary roads were still buried under snow. Communications to cities temporarily cut off by sleet and ice approached normal.

Huge drifts blocked the highway between Las Vegas, Nev., and Salt Lake City. Approximately 50 motorists took shelter in filling stations. A number of busses and cars turned back. Sixteen passengers, marooned for 24 hours in southwestern Utah, were brought out on horse-drawn sleighs.

Two Indians perished in the Arizona storm. Search for two others—six-year-old Navajo girls who disappeared in the blizzard a week ago—was abandoned on the theory they were dead. Twenty members of the Hopi tribe, lost while hunting for them, were rescued.

A passenger train, wedged in a 22-foot snow barrier for 21 hours, was pulled free and carried its 16 patrons into Norfolk, Neb. A freight engine darted off ice-clogged rails at Glenwood, Mo. The brakeman was killed.

Freezing weather spread over California. Los Angeles had an overnight low of 31.8, the coldest snap since January 20, 1922. Icy streets occasioned many accidents there. A reading of 32 gave San Francisco the chilliest January 9 on record. Trade officials feared the citrus crop—valued at $112,000,000 a year—had suffered extensive damage.

Modena, Utah, recorded the lowest temperature in 35 years—32 below zero. The mercury reached the same level in Lander, Wyo. Bemidji, Minn., reported a reading of -26; Jamestown, N. D., -25; Aberdeen, S. D., -23; Norfolk, Neb., -20; Charles City, Iowa, -18; Duluth, Minn., -18; Pocatello, Idaho, -16; La Crosse, Wis., -12; Reno, Nev., -11; Denver, -11; Helena, Mont., -10; Salt Lake City, -10; Goodland, Kans., -8.

Twenty-one deaths were attributed to the weather. California, Oklahoma and Texas had four each; Arizona, Utah and Nevada, two each; Nebraska, Missouri and Minnesota, one each.

LECHE REQUESTS RIGHT TO BORROW

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Governor Richard W. Leche asked the legislature's permission today to borrow $225,000 for state printing and the board of tax appeals, and $65,383.10 for Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

His office polled the legislators by mail for their ratification of a resolution by the state board of liquidation authorizing him to borrow the total of $290,383.10.

The resolution said the $225,000 was needed to pay state printing contracts, and to purchase furniture, fixtures, supplies and printing for the newly appointed state board of tax appeals named to hear pleas for readjustment of income tax payments.

The $65,383.10 was described as being needed to complete Louisiana Polytechnic institute's new administration building.

The board of liquidation said the legislature's appropriation of $275,000 was inadequate to defray the cost of state printing for the current biennium since various new departments were created.

EX-STATE HIGHWAY ENGINEER SUCCUMBS

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 9.—(AP)—William Henry Norckauer, one of the state's earliest road builders and twice state highway engineer, died today at a New Orleans hospital after two months' illness. He was 48 years old.

Funeral arrangements had not been announced tonight, but he is expected to be buried either here, or at Clinton, La., his birthplace, Monday.

Mr. Norckauer had been federal aid engineer with the Louisiana highway commission for the past three years, and connected with state road construction since 1909.

He became state highway engineer in 1930 and again in 1934, being succeeded both times by Harry B. Henderlite, who presently holds the office.

Mr. Norckauer was a deacon in the First Presbyterian church of Baton Rouge and is survived by the widow and two children.

Almost two billion dollars' worth of food is imported by England annually.

STATE GETS NINE MORE OIL WELLS

Seventeen Permits For Drilling Operations Issued During Week

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Increased activity marked the new year in Louisiana's oil industry with seven new well completions in south Louisiana during the week ended Friday, the state conservation department announced here Saturday. Two other wells were completed in Caddo parish.

Seventeen permits for drilling operations were issued by the department's minerals division during the same period. Most of these were for operations in coastal Louisiana.

A tabulation showed that the department in 1936 issued 1,143 minerals permits, all but approximately 200 were for oil drilling. The permits had a departmental value of $57,150 as each permit costs the applicant $50.

The "high light" of the industry during the past week was the discovery of a new oil field at the Valentine prospect in LaFourche parish. Opened by the Pan-American Production company, the new field is known as the "Harang."

The field, name of producing company, and the initial daily production of each new gusher follows in order:

Bayou Choctaw in Iberville parish, Standard Oil company of Louisiana and Gulf Refining company, jointly, 672 barrels; East Hackberry, Cameron parish, Stanolind Oil and Gas company, 816.40; Evangeline, Acadia parish, Superior Oil company, 517; Garden Island Bay, Plaquemines parish, Texas company, 292.

Harang, LaFourche parish, Pan-American Production company, 515 barrels; Iberia, Iberia parish, Texas company, 1,404; Lafitte, Jefferson parish, Texas company, 1,606 barrels; Pine Island, Caddo parish, Stanolind Oil and Gas company, 25; and Rodessa, Caddo parish, Phillips Petroleum company, 126.

Issuance of the permits showed that the Pan-American Production company had obtained authority to begin drilling of a second well in the new discovery field in LaFourche parish. The new permits, one for each applicant unless otherwise specified, follow:

Continental Oil company, Acadia parish; Superior Oil company, Acadia; Paul Cooper and C. C. Crews, Caddo parish; J. Edward Jones, Caddo, two; Lyons and Neely, Caddo; Magnolia Petroleum company, Caddo, two; Roger E. Pelletier, et al., Caddo.

Burton-Sutton Oil company, Cameron parish; Superior Oil company, Cameron; William Helis, Iberia parish; Pan-American Production company, LaFourche parish; Superior Oil company, St. Landry parish; Herton Oil company, St. Mary parish, two, and Pan-American production company, St. Mary.

FOUR NAMED TO ATTEND SCHOOL OF RECREATION

Plans for sending representatives to attend a recreation school to be conducted at Bastrop February 9-12 by W. C. Abbott, state 4-H club leader, were discussed at a meeting of the Ouachita Parish Recreation council Friday night at the Recreation center.

Representatives named by the council to attend the school are Mrs. G. A. Strozier, Mrs. J. M. Kent and Florine Avant, all of Drew, and Geraldine Manning of Calhoun. Other representatives will be appointed later.

Election of officers of the council was scheduled for the meeting, but was postponed.

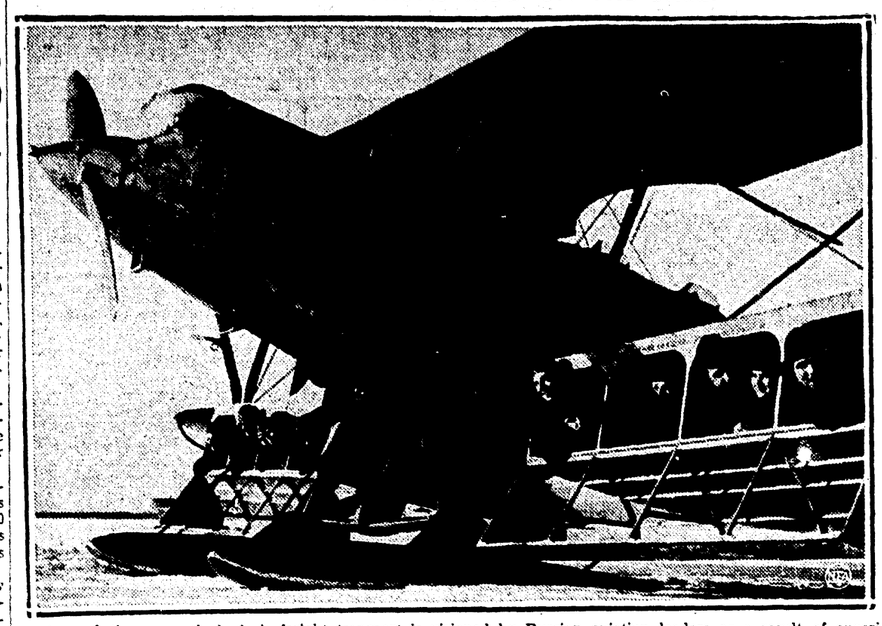
SOVIET AIR PATRONS RIDE 'ON THE SHELF'



A revolutionary method of air freight transport is visioned by Russian aviation leaders as a result of experiments in placing passengers in wing slots. Under the lower wing of a two-seated biplane, above, compartments were built to hold 16 passengers equipped with parachutes. The plane took off successfully and reached a speed of 180 miles an hour in flight. Note that the plane is equipped with ski runners for winter flying.

MARIONETTES TO BE SHOWN HERE

Professional Company To Give Two Performances On January 27

The municipal recreation department announces that arrangements have been made with the Rufus Rose marionettes, of Dallas, Tex., to give a performance at the Central Grammar school auditorium on the afternoon of January 27 and again at night at the same place.

The matinee for children of the schools will be one that will appeal to them, while the night performance, "Treasure Island," by Robert Louis Stevenson, will be presented in seven spectacular scenes.

The Rufus Rose Marionette company is said to be composed of recognized leaders in the field of marionettes. The company that will come to Monroe is composed of veterans who have spent their lives in this work and are said to have been well received whever they have appeared.

Many millions of people saw marionette shows played seven times daily in the Century of Progress world's fair at Chicago in 1933. Mr. Rose was the supervisor of these shows and he and Margo Rose personally created many of the marionettes which are still remembered by those vast audiences.

Margo Rose is an outstanding artist in the field of sculpture and most of the beautifully modelled figures used in their productions have come from her hands. She is a graduate of the famed British academy in Rome.

Martin and Olga Stevens are past masters in the legitimate theater and will be associated with Mr. Rose during the present season. Through the mastery of their art, they are supplying American audiences with a new thrill in the dramatic power of the marionette.

GOVERNMENT AID TO BE DISCUSSED

RUSTON, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—Government aid to college students under the national youth administration will be among the subjects for discussion at the national convention of the American Association of Deans of Women to be held in New Orleans February 16-20.

Miss Alma Burk, dean of women at Louisiana Tech and publicity chairman for the southeast central section of the deans' organization, has announced the following questions to be considered in connection with the federal aid program:

"Has the government help to college students under the NYA been a good thing? Should it become a permanent plan? Should it be retained as a relief measure or as a scholarship grant to those worthy students who are also needy?"

The American Council of Guidance and Personnel association and the national deans' group are planning several joint sessions during the New Orleans convention, Miss Burk said. This plan indicates a step forward in the counselling work for college students, it was stated.

"The dean has always been the human helper, interpreting and explaining, discovering and advising, suggesting and following up," Miss Burk declared. "But in modern times, a knowledge of personnel procedure and psychology must be added to her equipment if she is to be successful in her work as dean.

"Students are human, and many times do not correctly evaluate and therefore cannot wisely use the advice of the expert in their daily college life, in dormitory adjustments and in class work. In all of this work, the dean can be the interpreter and helper."

LUDLUM ANNOUNCES FOR RE-ELECTION AS MAYOR

BASTROP, Jan. 9.—(Special)—The campaign for city offices formally opened this week when Mayor J. R. Ludlum announced his candidacy for re-election as mayor in the city election, the first primary of which will be held in April. There are rumors of at least five other persons seeking the office, but no other statement has been openly issued.

Mayor Ludlum has held his present office for six consecutive years, succeeding C. J. Goodwin in 1931. At that time he was elected for a two-year period, the regular term for city officers since the granting of Bastrop's charter. However, in 1932 by an act of the legislature, the term was extended from two to four years. In the 1933 electon, Mr. Ludlum was re-elected. He also served as alderman for two terms from 1927 to 1931.

FARMERS GET CHECKS

JENA, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—The LaSalle parish farmers received 243 checks totaling $6,049.96 from the federal government soil conservation program this week, according to J. V. Hinton, LaSalle parish agent. The checks covered approximately 90 per cent of the total payments due. The remaining amount will be paid at a later date. Two hundred and fifty-two farmers signed up for the soil conservation program in LaSalle and other checks are expected by the parish agent for the remaining farmers. LaSalle parish is the first parish in the state to receive nearly all its checks due, it is understood.

JULIUS HADDAD TELLS OF TRIP

Goes To South America As First Class Seaman In Navy

Julius Haddad, first class seaman in the United States navy, whose home is in Monroe, has written to members of his family here telling of his recent trip to South America on the steamship Phelps which with the Chester acted as escort ships to the Indianapolis on which the president made his trip to Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires.

Haddad stated that it was a most delightful outing and that the capital cities of Brazil and Argentine are fully as handsome as the finest cities of this country and that in some respects they surpass cities like New York, Chicago and Boston.

The summer season was on as the seasons are the exact opposite of those in the United States. This was in direct contrast to the weather in Boston, where the Phelps is now stationed and where the snow was waist deep when the men arrived there shortly before Christmas.

One of the interesting features was the difference in money values. In Brazil he said an American dollar was worth $17; in Argentina a United States dollar had a value of $4 in money of that land.

The sailor boys ate a dinner in Brazil which cost in American money $1.50 but which cost in Brazilian money a total of $27.

Haddad enlisted two years ago in the navy and is now stationed on his ship which is assigned to the vicinity of Boston, Mass.

MORE AUTOMOBILE LICENSES ISSUED

Up to January 8, 1937, a total of 2,646 automobile licenses were sold, according to a report of Fred Hanna, manager of the motor vehicle bureau, 212 North Second street. This showed a total of plates sold that was more than 500 in excess of the number sold at a date a year ago that corresponded closely with the date this year.

However, he said that there are many plates to be sold and the deadline is now less than a month distant. He continues to advise against the inevitable last minute rush.

In order to assist the public, the office will be kept open Saturday afternoons starting this week and continuing until the deadline. This will enable many to secure licenses up to 5 p.m. Saturdays, Mr. Hanna said.

WELFARE BOARD ORGANIZED

JENA, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—At a recent meeting of the newly formed LaSalle parish welfare board, J. E. Harris, Olla merchant, was elected chairman and Clarence Doyle, Good Pine schoolteacher, vice-chairman. J. E. Stewart was approved by the board as director of public welfare in the parish. After Mr. Stewart's being approved as director, he took charge of the meeting and the selecting of other workers for the board. The following were selected: Miss Lucille Honeycutt, field worker; Miss Laurasteen Schrader, field worker; Mrs. Randolph Drewett, office secretary, and Mrs. Olivia Hodges, stenographer. Those present at the meeting were: Mr. Harris, Mr. Doyle, Mr. Stewart, L. U. Manchester, Mrs. George Hayes and E. N. Duke.

TAKEN TO PEN

HOMER, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—Earl C. Killgore, farmer of Lisbon, who was convicted of manslaughter in the October term of the district court here, was taken to the state penitentiary by sheriff officials after the supreme court had upheld his conviction. Kilgore must serve from five to 16 years for the slaying of Tom Gilbert, Lisbon farmer.

RED CROSS WILL NAME DIRECTORS

Special Committee Selected To Nominate Board Comprised Of 30 Persons

The Ouachita Parish chapter of the Red Cross, at the first meeting of the new year, held in the rooms of the chamber of commerce Friday, named a special committee to recommend a board of directors of 30 persons to serve during 1937. The committee named comprises E. C. Gibson, Rev. Ernest Holloway and A. E. Montgomery. They will report at a meeting later on when the election of the board will be held. The board as then constituted will proceed to elect its officers for the year.

It was also determined that a new plan will be put into effect this year which will comprise the election of 10 directors for one year, 10 for two years and 10 for three years.

The next meeting of the board will be on January 29.

Plans for the opening of the initial first aid station were approved and the station, with complete equipment, will open at the Downing Tourist camp, west of West Monroe on Dixie-Overland highway on Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Downing will be in general charge of its operation.

The plan of maintaining a visiting nurse and the carrying out the home hygiene and care for the sick program were approved. This will be put into effect on or about February 15.

The campaign report of President Roosevelt showed that he spent only $670 for re-election.

DEPUTY DETAINED ON MURDER COUNT

COLUMBIA, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—A warrant charging Deputy Sheriff R. L. Meredith of Caldwell parish with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Johnny Fay Vincent, 22, at Kelly last Wednesday, was sworn out today by Vincent's father, Rush Vincent, school bus driver residing four miles east of Kelly.

Deputy Meredith, who on the day following the shooting was exonerated by a coroner's jury which held that the death was justifiable homicide, was being detained by Sheriff George Erskine tonight at the courthouse here. Arrangements for having the amount of his bond fixed by the district court were being made.

The shooting of young Vincent took place when Deputy Meredith sought to arrest him for driving an automobile while intoxicated. The officer fired in self-defense as Vincent attacked him with a knife, witnesses told the coroner's jury.

OLDEST NEGRO DIES

Thomas Jefferson, 93, believed to have been the oldest negro resident of Ouachita parish, died the past week at his home, on Breard's alley. He fought in the Civil war with the late D. A. Breard, to whom he belonged as slave. His funeral was held at Mt. Zion Baptist church last Friday. His widow, aged 91, survives, as do three stepchildren.

REV. VAUGHAN TO PREACH

TO OPEN BIDS AT L. T. I. ON FEB. 1

Fine New Gymnasium And Swimming Pool Will Be Equipped

S. L. Digby, well known Monroe attorney, recently named by Governor Richard W. Leche to take the place on the board of the Louisiana Training institute formerly held by the late B. F. Barnette of Arcadia, assumed his duties Saturday at the first meeting of the group for the new year. Officers of the board are Lloyd Warren, president; S. L. Digby, vice-president; A. S. Tidwell, Jr., secretary-treasurer.

The chief business considered at the meeting was that of fixing the date for the opening of bids on the proposed new swimming pool and gymnasium for the institute.

February 1 at 10 a.m. was the time set for the opening of bids for the new construction, the place being the offices of Dr. Harvey Dillon, superintendent.

The new building will cost an estimated $60,000 and will be financed by the state. It will be one story in height and of brick and concrete, according to plans prepared by J. W. Smith and Associates, local architects.

The building will contain a completely equipped gymnasium, indoor basketball court, a moving picture apparatus that will be used frequently for the presentation of shows for the inmates, and a modern pool will be installed in connection with the building.

Investigation of the operations of the institute made by the board showed that it is progressing favorably. Special progress was noted in vocational training and other educational lines under the supervision of John Jones, principal. The institute band was also found to be making satisfactory progress.

TOY SHOP WILL BE KEPT IN OPERATION

The operation of the Christmas toy shop was such a pronounced success that it has been arranged to maintain it in operation indefinitely in order to prepare toys and dolls for Christmas, 1937, according to announcement made by Mrs. Thelma Carson, director of the municipal recreation department, one of the sponsors of the project. The WPA furnishes the labor.

The plant will be maintained in the I. Baer building and broken dolls and toys that can be repaired, dress material for the dolls, and paint are required. Persons having these available are asked to bring them to the toy shop or to phone the office of the municipal recreation department in the city hall and a car will call to make the collection.

The public was hearty in its response to the appeal for supplies immediately preceding the Christmas season and it is desired that there be a continuance of this cooperation which has made for past successes.

Toys built will be stored away for the coming Christmas and will enable the workers to get a good start on the work. At the same time, relief workers will find employment.

Society In Monroe Marks Time During Interlude Between Winter And Spring

Spring Wedding To Get Much Attention

Outstanding Event Of Week Was Concert Given By Civic Music Association; Local Residents Plan Trips

By Eve Bradford

JANUARY! A delicious interlude between winter and spring with longer days to run our daily course. The weather is a bit churlish but fragrant narcissi rearing their graceful heads on every well conducted living room table serve to remind us of last week's balmy days and of still warmer, brighter days to come.

Although not an exciting week, the past seven days had a certain charm. There was for example an outpouring of golden music brought to us through the medium of the Civic Music association. Several small affairs characterized by that informal grace which marks gatherings of pleasant people who are long and well acquainted also took place last week.

Several recent affairs were very similar to those of olden days as they brought together a mingling of young and of older people who have been friends for years.

Last week brought us news of a betrothal that had all the earmarks of a romantic love affair. In writing of betrothals and weddings it is so easy, alas, to fall into banality, but not about true lovers like Melba Liner and Robert Gaston. Never was there a more enraptured couple. It was the south wind in the warm waters of the Gulf that fanned the friendship into romance. Sailing with Dr. Gaston was Melba's favorite pastime last summer and now they will sail the sea of matrimony for all eternity. May all the future be as bright as those sun drenched days on Lake Pontchartrain where Dr. Gaston, member of the Southern Yacht club, is regarded as one of the most skillful skippers in local waters. April, the most glamorous and the flowery month of the year in Dixie, has been selected for their wedding month—then the wild honeysuckle flings its perfume broadcast, the dogwood sends down white drifts and the yellow jasmine associated with the days when knighthood was in flower, weaves its perfumed spell. Melba, with the smooth, delicate features of the cameo, was wise indeed to select the flowery month of April to walk altarward.

Friends of Nanette Selig feel that they have been cheated. Her marriage will take place at Hotel Sherry in Chicago on February 14 instead of in Monroe as anticipated.

Imagine Mrs. T. T. Webb's amazement and horror when she found her home pilfered and robbed during her absence in Shreveport where she spent the Christmas with her daughter, Nellie Walke. A pair of gold bracelets, treasured for sentimental reasons rather than for their intrinsic value, were missing. Numerous other articles of jewelry, silver and articles, long in the Webb family, were carried away by the midnight prowler who apparently was well acquainted with the lay of the house.

There is one gentleman in Monroe who still sends his wife flowers after years of married life together. Byron Vaughan, remembering the wedding anniversary, sent a carload of gladiolas of every rainbow color to Minta. Just an ordinary urn was not sufficiently large to hold them so a small tub was pressed into service. Their beauty of coloring glorifies the surroundings and brightens the rain soaked days for Minta whose days (until her rest cure is over) are spent indoors.

It might interest you to know that a certain beautiful widow and a certain bachelor are that way about each other. No, it isn't the spring. It happened on a rainy afternoon when they were thrown together for the first time at a football game. Station announcements will follow.

Don't let your basest feelings of envy be aroused when you hear about Betty Isaacman off with her mother, Mrs. Amos Hill, for Mexico City where the weather is always warm and strawberries ripen all the year round. In a colorful hacienda at Paxco they will while away the remaining days of January and all of February. Just writing about it helps one to forget the prosaic minutes of everyday existence. With January, for most housewives, comes the sudden revelation that the kitchen sink is cracked, the rug has a worn spot and everything, generally, is in a state of domestic decay.

A step forward on the road to the delectable life will be taken by Janet Powell and Alice Briggs when they head for Palm Beach, most any day now. With a trunk full of flippant clothes for the southland, a car all pepped up and ready to go, and road maps studied faithfully to the last ditch, they find no good reason for not departing at once for sunnier climes.

Having hurdled the holidays, we now wonder what 1937 is going to do for us. Shall we be sitting at home this summer or shall we look up the World's Fair of the Arts in Paris? A group of young girls, mostly high school seniors, are talking Europe and who knows but summer will find them going helter-skelter from London to Paris, drinking in enough old world knowledge and beauty to supply a fitting background for the rest of their lives.

We have a theory that all the modern globe trotting restlessness, the trailers, the motoring, the flying and the sailing are merely an outcropping of gypsy blood.

Mrs. Frank Lynn and daughter, Miss Bonnie Lynn, have returned from a visit in New Orleans.

Miss Helen Sproles Weds Kenneth Stewart

A wedding claiming the interest of friends in this section of the state and in Mississippi was that of Miss Helen Sproles, sister of Mrs. A. D. Tisdale of this city, and Mr. Kenneth Stewart of Gillsburg, Miss., and Washington, D. C., at the Gillsburg Baptist church Monday, December 28, at 10:30 o'clock in the morning.

The church was beautifully decorated with luxuriant palms and ferns, with tall white candelabra supporting myriad cathedral tapers burning in the background.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Hugh V. Wall and daughter, Miss Valeria Wall of Brookhaven, Miss. Mrs. Wall presided at the piano and Miss Wall sang "I Love You Truly," and "At Dawning." During the ceremony Mrs. Wall played softly "Liebestraum" by Lizt. The bridal party entered to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin.

The ushers, Dr. A. D. Williams of Kentwood, La., and Mr. Odessa Wall of Gillsburg, both boyhood friends of the groom, entered first. Next came little Louise Tisdale, the junior bridesmaid, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Tisdale of Monroe, La., and niece of the bride. Louise wore a dark blue velvet frock and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of pink carnations. Following her came the maid of honor, Miss Ione Stewart, sister of the groom. She was very becomingly dressed in a costume suit of king's blue trimmed in gray fur and wore gray accessories. Her bouquet was of pink talisman roses.

The bride entered on the arm of her brother, Mr. H. F. Sproles of Delhi, La. The bride, a beautiful blonde, was charmingly attired in a French model dubonnet velvet dress trimmed in white starched lace. A dainty white hat trimmed in ostrich tips and veil completed the ensemble. The bride's bouquet was of white rose buds and lilies of the valley tied with queen's lace.

The groom, with his best man, Mr. W. D. Welch, his uncle of Washington, D. C., met the bride at the altar, where the single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. J. Delaughter, pastor of the Gillsburg Baptist church. During the plighting of the vows, the soft strains of Liebestraum (Lizt) and the flickering candlelight enhanced the beauty of the wedding ensemble.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. S. W. Sproles and the late Rev. S. W. Sproles, who was for many years a prominent Baptist minister of Mississippi and Louisiana. She is a graduate of Northeast Center of L. S. U., at Monroe, La., and for the past several years has made her home with her sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Tisdale.

The groom is the only son of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Stewart of Gillsburg. He is a graduate of Marion Military institute at Marion, Ala., and attended Tulane and George Washington universities. At present he is attending the law school of George Washington at night. He also holds a responsible position with the treasury department at Washington.

After the wedding at the church, an informal reception was held in the lovely Stewart home, where the bridal party pulled the ribbons and the bride cut the cake. The spacious living and dining rooms were artistically decorated with evergreens. The punch bowl was presided over by Misses Thelma and Irma Welch of New Orleans and Miss Noraleen Williams of Gillsburg, all cousins of the groom.

Just following the reception, a buffet luncheon was served to the members of both families. The bride changed to a lovely traveling suit of brown, with harmonizing accessories. They left in their car for a trip through Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia. They have been at home in Washintgon, D. C., where they expect to reside, since January 5.

The out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mrs. A. D. Tisdale and daughter and Mrs. S. W. Sproles of Monroe, La., Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Sproles of Delhi, La., Mrs. Edwin Myrick of Girard, La., Mr. John Lamar Smith, Magnolia, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Hugh V. Wall and daughter of Brookhaven, Miss., Mrs. John Sproles and daughter, Dorothy Nell, Brookhaven, Miss., Miss Katherine Brenen, Brookhaven, Miss., Mr. J. A. Travis, Jackson, Miss., Mrs. Leslie Bolian, Bogue Chitto, Miss., Miss Maud Jackson, Liberty, Miss. Mr. J. B. Welch, Osyka, Miss., Dr. A. D. Williams and Miss Geraldine Dyson, Kentwood, La., Mr. W. M. Smith, San Antonio, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Smith, Chicago, Ill., Mrs. B. H. Sanders, Jackson, Miss., Mr. W. D. Welch, Washington, D. C., Miss Mildred Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winling and daughter, Peggy, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Welch and son, Conway, Misses Thelma and Irma Welch and Mrs. Colson, all of New Orleans, La., Mrs. Paul L. Daly and son, Jimmy, of Purvis, Miss., and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Honea of Memphis, Tenn.

SUITED TO SUNNY CLIMES

Two good reasons why slim and trim and perfectly tailored suits continue as fashion favorites. In pastel wool shetland they fit nicely into the warm weather picture at home or resorting. The youthful yellow model (left) has a single-breasted jacket and a neat gored skirt. It's worn with a gayly printed scarf and brown and white sports shoes. The slate blue one (right) includes a skirt with inverted pleats at the front and one of the very new double-breasted, broad-shouldered box jackets which swing loose and free about the hips.

Class Entertained At Graves Home

Members of the Parker Memorial class of the First Methodist church were delightfully entertained in the home of Mrs. J. Q. Graves on Riverside Wednesday night with Mrs. E. E. Richardson, Mrs. T. O. Rutledge, Mrs. A. C. Robbins, Mrs. George Temple, Mrs. Jackson Young, Mrs. Clyde Culver and Mrs. E. C. Sholars as co-hostesses.

The highlight of the evening was the clever talk on "Twelfth Night," delivered by Mrs. J. V. Garnett. At this time, each guest, in remembrance of Twelfth Night, was presented with a spray of silver foliage tied with blue ribbons.

Miss Juanita Porter assisted the hostesses in offering courtesies and in arranging the games and contests for the evening's diversion.

Refreshments were served buffet style from a beautifully appointed table with Mrs. C. W. Wallace presiding over the coffee urn.

Those present heard with exceeding delight the message sent by Miss Julia Wossman, their beloved teacher, whose recent illness prevented her from being present on this joyous occasion.

Plans Made For President's Ball

Junior Charity league members are gathering their forces and planning details for the President's ball on the night of January 30. Tickets are now available and every civic-spirited citizen will be called upon to lend his support.

This event, now an annual affair, is keenly anticipated, as it brings together one of the greatest gatherings of society of the entire year. League members see to it that society is out en masse, that the music is the "peppiest" obtainable and the entertainment sufficiently diversified to satisfy the most exacting.

Interest Mounting In Public Library

Wide Circulation Of Books Proves Ever-Growing Popularity Of Municipal Institution

Once upon a time the people who owned books and collected books did not visit the public library. They read and re-read the collections on their shelves and passed on to their children their favorites—the Shakespeares, the Dantes, the Coopers, the Robert Louis Stevensons, the Dickenses, the Mark Twains, the Brontes and the Shelleys that graced every well furnished home bookcase. But today, with nearly 10,000 new titles pouring forth from the presses of the United States alone, in a year's time, today when inherited bookcases have vanished with ancestral homes, when the thirst for the latest information on every possible subject supplants the appetite for solid classics—even those who budget books for the family as a necessary item of luxury, recreation and education, need their public library.

The public library of today is a great clearing house for ideas—a powerhouse for currents of information to be sent out to subscribers. Librarians, with infinite patience and skill, gather, select, classify and make available all possible sources of printed information, from the newspaper clipping to the pamphlet, and the more leisurely article in the periodicals.

From Miss Felicia Hardel, librarian at the Monroe public library, were gleaned several interesting facts. Of greatest interest, perhaps, was the wide circulation. The figures, to be exact, last month were 4,446. This means, of course, that these books were carried home to read, to study and to ponder over. Many who are not borrowers, come to the library to help themselves to books, magazines and newspapers.

It would be rather difficult, according to Miss Hardel, to correctly estimate the number of questions asked daily. These queries vary from requests for cultural reading to points of grammar; from rules for being a gentleman to politics of Spain and customs in Ethiopia.

Subscribers expect their public library to provide the latest books on orchestral conductors, the score of the current opera or symphony program, the text of the most popular play running on Broadway and the name of the latest book being filmed. The housewife expects to find books on culinary art and how to stretch the family dollar. The business man looks for aid in computing his income tax, in studies of specialized accountancy, in locating business addresses, in examining patents' specifications. The clubwoman seeks help in preparing articles and arranging programs, whether or not the subject deals with affairs of the moment or goes back to the dark ages.

Children are the most faithful patrons of all. A tally on their cards shows a great familiarity with a wide range from the King Arthur stories to Tom Sawyer and Alice in Wonderland and the Scout heroes of today. The "wild west" never ceases in its appeal for the youngster.

According to a well known authority, "a public library is the spiritual center of our civilization. It is the depository of man's ideas, hopes, aspirations. It is man thinking—man throughout the ages, in all places and under all conditions."

Engagement Of Miss Melba Liner And Dr. Robert W. Gaston Announced

Popular Girl Will Marry This Spring

Miss Elizabeth Patton Slade Becomes Bride Of Charles Wendell Moody At Lake Charles January 2

Claiming the sincere and affectionate interest of friends in this section of the state is the following announcement:

Mr. and Mrs. James Conway Liner
daughter
Melba
to
Dr. Robert Woodward Gaston, Jr., of New Orleans

The marriage of Miss Liner and Dr. Gaston will be a brilliant social event of early spring.

Due to the exceeding popularity of Miss Liner, the announcement of her engagement is of widespread interest. She possesses a distinctive personality and numbers her friends not only among the younger set but the older generation as well. She is a charter member of the Junior Charity league of this city and for the past year has acted as sponsor for the Delta Beta Sigma sorority, the membership of which embraces the younger social set of this city almost en masse. Miss Liner attended the University of Alabama and is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Dr. Gaston, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Gaston of New Orleans, is a prominent figure socially in New Orleans and especially in Southern Yacht club circles. Dr. Gaston attended Tulane university and was graduated from the dental department of Loyola university. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Dr. Gaston has acquired a wide circle of friends and admirers in this city where he has visited on numerous occasions in the home of his brother, Dr. Nathan Gaston, and Mrs. Gaston in Fairview.

An announcement that comes as a complete surprise and one in which the affectionate interest of many friends in this city and in Orange, Tex., is centered, follows.

Mrs. Charles Ebert Slade
daughter
Elizabeth Patton
to
Mr. Charles Wendell Moody
in Lake Charles, Louisiana,
Saturday, January second
Nineteen hundred and thirty-seven.

The bride, one of the loveliest members of Monroe's younger set, has been making her home during the past year with her sister, Mrs. E. W. Brown, Jr., and Mr. Brown in Orange, Tex., while attending the Lamar Junior college in Beaumont. She also attended Ward Belmont in Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. Moody is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvle Sylvester Moody of Kansas, Ill.

The marriage of Miss Slade and Mr. Moody came as a climax to several years of friendship.

Mr. and Mrs. Moody are at home for the time being with Mrs. Moody's mother in Fairview, where they will be glad to receive their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes will bring a few intimates together during the supper hour tonight in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Moody. Next Saturday night society will welcome Mr. and Mrs. Moody at Lakeside Country club, where Mrs. Slade and Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick will be hosts at a dancing party.

Miss O'Donnell Honor Guest

An evening of charming informality in the home of Mrs. Carl Valdes with Mrs. Harold Breard as co-hostess was enjoyed by a group of intimates Friday night with Miss Mary Louise O'Donnell as the guest of honor.

The presentation of beautiful gifts to Miss O'Donnell was the highlight of the evening. The gifts, attractively wrapped in crisp tissue and ribbon tied, comprised pieces of flat silver, Haviland china, lingerie, crystal and handsome linens.

Suggestive of the O'Donnell-Seaman nuptials Monday night was the clever table decor arranged by the hostesses. A miniature church with bride and bridegroom and wedding entourage leaving the lighted doorway was an attractive feature.

The pleasures of the evening were completed with the serving of a delicious salad course, individual wedding cakes, beautifully embossed, and iced fruit frappe at the linen-covered tables, grouped in the living room.

Guests on this occasion numbered Miss O'Donnell's co-workers at the News-Star—World Publishing company as follows: Miss Wilma Pace, Miss Winnie Maroney, Miss Inez Robertson, Miss Nellie Kincaid, Miss Faye McIntosh, Miss Gloria Gray, Mrs. Gaynell Tinsley, Mrs. Fred Benson, Mrs. Stanley Reid, Mrs. Ann Bernhard, Mrs. McConnell, Miss Mary Kellum, Miss Eve Bradford. Others present were Mrs. Samuel Orchard and Mrs. Gladys Miles.

P.-T. A. Council Holds Meeting

With 10 of its 12 schools well represented, the Twin City P.-T. A. council held its first meeting of the new year at the courthouse January 7. The council president, Mrs. E. P. Cudd, called the group to order, and, after the reading of minutes, reports of the work of 1936 were read. Mrs. W. M. Greenwell, chairman of recreation, stated that 101 dolls had been dressed for the Christmas toy shop by her committee.

The council voted to recommend to the various schools a puppet show concerning the teeth and their care. If principals of the several elementary schools so decide, this show wil be brought to Monroe in the early spring. As a committee for consulting all Monroe school principals, the following women were appointed: Mrs. Rhes McCook, Mrs. C. S. Swain, Mrs. H. F. Felix, Mrs. R. E. Wilson and Mrs. E. W. Stinson.

Mrs. Rhes McCook was appointed chairman of the mother singers.

All parents are again invited and urged to hear Dr. Carolyn Tiebout of L. S. U., deliver the fourth of a series of lectures on child care Thursday, January 14.

Mrs. W. J. Renneker Observes Anniversary

Mrs. Percy Walker chose the 77th birthday of her lovely mother, Mrs. William J. Renneker, as the happy occasion for bringing together a group of old friends in her home. The party was a complete surprise to the honoree, who was showered with lovely gifts and congratulations. The reception suite was florally adorned with potted plants and cut flowers. In the dining room the lace-covered table was graced with a white and silver birthday cake with 77 flaming tapers. Silver sprays of fern and green and white mints in silver compotes were found along the board. Mrs. Renneker, who was escorted to the dining room by Rev. L. T. Hastings, observed the ancient custom of making a wish and blowing out the candles. She was privileged to cut the first slice of her birthday cake.

At the close of the happy evening, Rev. Hastings read the last chapter of Revelation and offered a prayer, after which all joined in singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Mrs. Walker was assisted in serving by her sister, Mrs. T. D. Boaz of Shreveport, Mrs. Wilds Ross and Mrs. L. T. Hastings.

The guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. Wilds Ross, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Morrow, Mr. Wesley Saunders, Mrs. S. J. Meek, Mrs. S. W. Tucker, Mrs. G. L. Mahoney, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Carroll, Miss Dee Morgan and Mrs. S. A. Kincaid.

Year Book Group One Of Importance

Mrs. Addison Thompson of Ruston, state publicity chairman of the Louisiana Federated Women's clubs draws attention to the following lines by Mary Caroline Davies:

"Here's a clean year,
A white year,
Reach your hand and take it.
You are the builder,
And no one else can make it."

Early in the new year, clubs of the Louisiana federation will elect officers. The first committee appointed by the president-elect is the year book committee for 1937-1938. Too much stress cannot be placed upon this committee, for upon its members depends largely the success of the club year.

The object of the program building contest sponsored by the chairman of press and publicity, L. F. W. C., Mrs. Addison Thompson, Ruston, is to raise the standard of club programs, thereby deriving greater benefit for the time spent, both on the part of the club member contributing the program, and her audience.

Following are the rules for the contest:

1. Programs must be limited to one general subject.
2. Programs must be adapted to the club.
3. Programs may be hand-made or printed.
4. Two year books (programs) may be entered in the state contest from a district.
5. Programs must be the work of the individual club.
6. District chairmen may select the two books to be entered from a district in the state contest.
7. Programs must be in the hands of the state chairman of press and publicity, Mrs. Addison Thompson, Ruston, not later than September 15, 1937.

Department clubs unable to comply with these rules may enter books for separate departments.

The assistance of Miss Essae M. Culver, executive secretary of the Louisiana Library commission, and P. H. Griffith, director of extension, L. S. U., both of Baton Rouge, has been enlisted. They will offer suggestive programs, bibliographies, and books without cost to the clubs of the Louisiana federation. It is requested that club women be as definite as to their needs as possible, in order to avoid waste of time.

Miss Mary Louise O'Donnell To Marry Frederick Seaman Tomorrow Night

Frances Hotel Will Be Scene Of Wedding

Several Attractive Pre-Nuptial Events Given During Past Week Honoring Popular Bride-To-Be

Tomorrow is Miss Mary Louise O'Donnell's wedding day. That it may be a beautiful day filled with the glorious sunshine associated with the month of January in the southland is the sincere wish of her countless friends.

The wedding on the terrace of the Frances hotel will climax a week overflowing with charming pre-nuptial compliments with Miss O'Donnell and her fiance, Mr. Frederick Seaman, as the central figures.

Prominent among the events of the past week was the beautifully appointed luncheon in the Cameo room of the Virginia hotel with Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Davidson as hosts.

Crystal and silver was used exclusively in the appointments of the white damask covered table where pink sweet peas spilled in artistic profusion from a handsome crystal epergne surmounted with flaming pink tapers. Tapers encircled with pink sweet peas also burned at the extreme ends of the table.

Suggestive of the approachng wedding were the silver bells serving as place cards at each cover. Mrs. Davidson's gift to Miss O'Donnell was an exquisite rose point lace handkerchief and a corsage of waxen gardenias.

Miss O'Donnell wore on this occasion one of her smart trousseau models of jade green with accessories of brown. A most becoming brown hat, an advanced spring model, added a distinctive touch.

Five delicious courses were faultlessly served to Miss O'Donnell and Mr. Seaman, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. O'Donnell, Rev. N. F. Vandegaer, Mrs. James Leake, Miss Suzanne Hirsch, Miss Louise Morrison, Miss Alice Henry, Dr. Prentice Gray, Jr., and Mr. Prioleau Ellis.

Luncheon on Friday in the private dining room of the Frances hotel was another bright spot on Miss O'Donnell's calendar of charmng pre-nuptial events. The hostesses, Mrs. Thomas J. Sandridge, Mrs. Duncan Cook and Mrs. John Bostick, wore smart early spring models and selected a spring time theme for their beautifully appointed table. Mosaic lace and handsome damask covered the table, developed in pink, with blue crystal with tall blue tapers used exclusively in the service, accentuating the chosen colors. A flaring plaque of pink carnations and blue ageratum left a narrow margin along the table for the covers marked with silver shells holding pink and blue confections with sprays of valley lilies attached to the place cards. Tall pink and blue tapers burned in the midst of the flowers and place cards. A luscious five-course luncheon, with broiled spring chicken as the piece de resistance and demi tasse following the fresh strawberry parfait served in tall blue crystal glasses, was faultlessly served.

Miss O'Donnell wore a brown tailleur with handsome paisley blouse and accessories of beige.

The guests included Miss O'Donnell, Mrs. R. W. O'Donnell, Mrs. Irving Wolff, Mrs. A. G. McHenry, Mrs. C. P. Gray, Miss Suzanne Hirsch, Miss Louise Morrison, Miss Melba Liner, and the three hostesses.

Flaming tapers of gold encircled a picturesque mound of golden hued calendula centering the beautifully appointed dinner table in the Cameo room of the Virginia hotel, presided over by Dr. Prentice Gray, Jr., who acted as host for a group of intimates Thursday night.

The honor guests were Miss O'Donnell, in smart black evening model, and her fiance, Mr. Frederick Seaman. Covers at the candle-lit table were marked with mirrored match boxes for the gentlemen and exquisite corsages for the ladies.

Aperitifs and caviar canapes were enjoyed before the serving of the sumptuous five-course dinner to Miss O'Donnell and Mr. Seaman, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. O'Donnell, Mrs. James Leake and Mr. Turner Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Prioleau Ellis, Miss Lillie Thompson and Mr. James Sparks, Miss Suzanne Hirsch and Mr. Laurence Alexander, Miss Louise Morrison and Mr. Lynn McCauley, Dr. Gray and Miss Ann Platt.

Science supports this fact

BREAD AIDS DIGESTION of other foods

TUNE IN!
"THE BAKERS' BROADCAST"
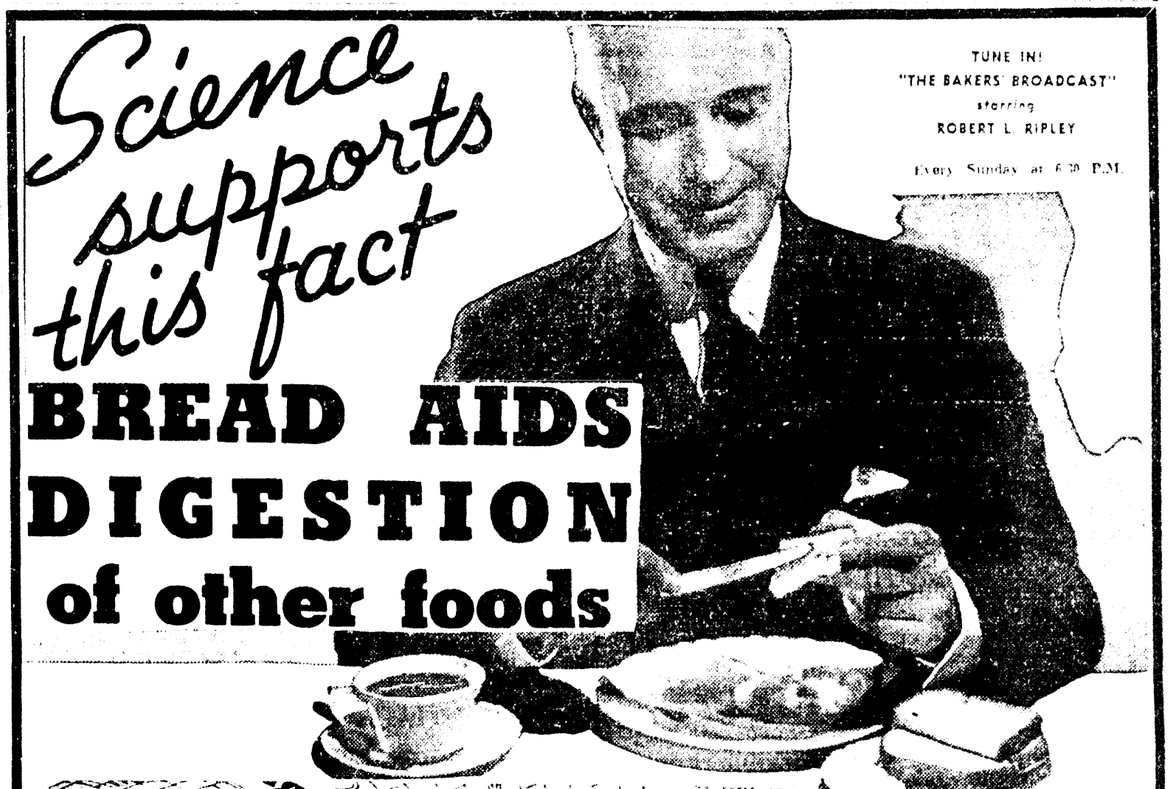
ROBERT L. RIPLEY
Every Sunday at 6:30 P.M.



Here's a fact that is supported by actual scientific research: Bread aids the digestion of other foods. In a series of tests conducted by leading scientists to determine the truth about Bread, it was found that Bread speeds digestion and shortens the emptying time of the stomach. Bread causes a flow of strong digestive juices, thereby aiding the digestion of other foods.

When you eat plenty of Bread with your meals, you don't have to worry about indigestion. You may be sure that Bread, besides being nearly 100% digestible itself, will aid the digestion of the other foods you eat.

Science says that a perfectly balanced daily diet should contain not less than six slices of Bread. See that you and your family get plenty of Bread every day. It's your best and cheapest energy food.

INDUSTRIAL AND BUSINESS REVIEW OF THE TWIN CITIES NORTH LOUISIANA'S COMMERCIAL CENTER

FORD INTRODUCES 60-HP V-8 ENGINE

Model Meets Demand For Large Car Roominess But Low Operating Cost

In introducing the 60 horsepower V-8 engine to the American market in Ford V-8 cars for 1937, the Ford Motor company is meeting the demands of thousands of motor car owners who require large car roominess, comfort and safety, but insist upon the lowest obtainable operating cost.

From an engineering standpoint, this step is not in any sense experimental, as thousands of the "60" V-8 engines have been placed in service during the last year in Great Britain and on the Continent. Although the new engine is only now reaching the American motoring public, it is a "second year" engine reflecting the benefit of reports from a large number of users who had them in service under almost every conceivable operating condition.

The introduction of the 60 horsepower engine marks an important deviation from the trend toward higher horsepower and extreme performance that has been a feature of the American automobile in recent years. While fully appreciative of the refinement, better performance and ease of operation that have been added annually to low priced automobiles, many a car owner has sighed for the fuel economy of earlier days. This, the Ford Motor company was convinced, a substantial number of buyers desired to obtain at the sacrifice of extreme acceleration and extreme top speed.

The new engine as one of the two power units for the standard 112-inch chassis and body of the Ford V-8 for 1937 is the answer to this demand. In every detail it is a smaller counterpart of its larger brother, of which some 3,000,000-old are now cruising the highways.

It has cylinder blocks and crankcase cast integral, cast alloy steel pistons, fully counter-weighted cast allow steel crankshaft, floating type connecting rod bearings, cast alloy iron camshaft, chrome nickel alloy steel valves and tungsten chrome alloy steel valve seat inserts. Its ignition system is driven directly from the end of the camshaft. The engine manufacturing processes are identical with those used in the production of the larger engine.

The new engine is approximately two-thirds the size of the 85 horsepower engine, but because of its smaller cylinders can operate with a higher compression ration and delivers more than two-thirds the power of the larger unit. Top speed is about 70 miles an hour. Comfortable cruising speed is 55 to 60 miles an hour.

Important comparative specifications of the two engines are:

	85 H.P.	60 H.P.
Bore	3.062 in.	2.60 in.
Stroke	3.75 in.	3.20 in.
Piston Displacement	221 cu. in.	136 cu. in.
Brake Horsepower	85 at 3800 r.p.m.	60 at 3500 r.p.m.
Weight (with transmission and clutch)	562 lbs.	400 lbs.

The compression ratio in the larger engine of 6.12 to 1, is stepped up in the 60 horsepower engine to 6.75 to 1. The smaller cylinders, with the special design of the combustion chambers permit use of this high compression—and resulting fuel economy—with standard quality of fuel.

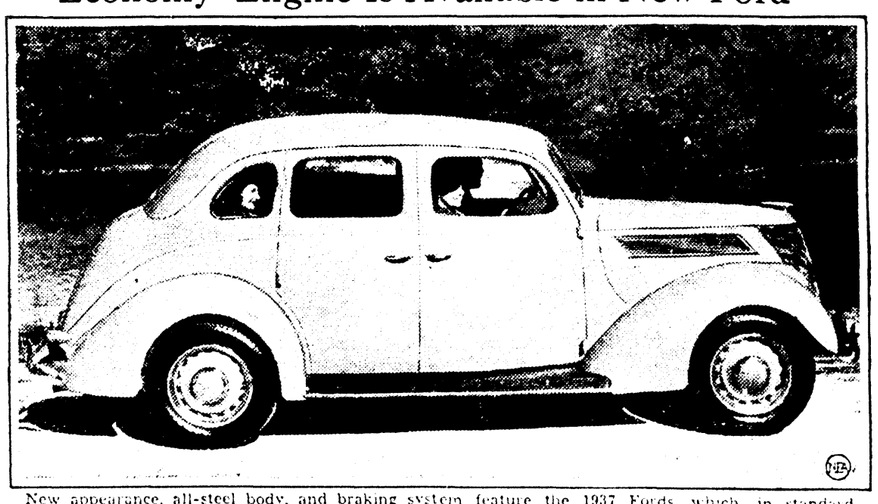
To provide adequate acceleration, the new engine has a top gear ratio of 4.44 to 1, as compared with 3.78 to 1 with the larger engine. The engine will therefore be running somewhat faster in high gear at any given road speed, and this is reflected in the relatively unusual size of the three main bearings, which are two inches in diameter—almost as large as the engine bore.

Pistons are of cast alloy steel. Other features of the engine are similar to the 85 horsepower engine except for size. The cast alloy steel crankshaft, for example, is 20.82 inches long and weighs 45 pounds, 6 ounces, while in the 85 horsepower engine the similar fully counter-weighted shaft is 24.47 inches long and weighs 63 pounds, 8 ounces.

Limits of accuracy in manufacture are the same as in the larger engine. Bearings, valves and other parts are also similar in type.

Taxable horsepower rating is 21.63, as against 30 for the 85 horsepower engine. Its torque is 94 pounds feet at 2500 revolutions per minute, compared with 149 pounds feet at 2000 r.p.m. Oil capacity is four quarts, against five, and the cooling system holds 3.8 gallons, as compared with 5.5 gallons in the larger engine.

'Economy' Engine Is Available in New Ford



New appearance, all-steel body, and braking system feature the 1937 Fords, which, in standard types, are available with either an 85-horsepower V-8 engine or a brand new 60-horsepower "economy" V-8 engine. Top, structure, panels and floor are all of steel. Operated through a cable-and-conduit system, the brakes have controlled self-energizing action. Radiator grille curves back deeply into the hood sides. De luxe touring sedan is pictured above.

MOVIES TO CURE NERVES

Moving pictures will be employed in the treatment of nervous and mental disorders for the first time in the history of Russian medicine. A special film studio is under construction at a Moscow hospital. The entire work is under the guidance of Professor L. Sukharebysky. The audience reaction to a moving picture, ranging emotionally all the way from hilarity to tears, is the basis of the project. Correctly chosen pictures, it is believed, will have a favorable effect on the patients treated.

JOHNSON BROS. SHOP IS MODERN

Comfort Of Patrons Uppermost In Minds Of Owners Of Efficient Shop

Johnson Bros. Barber ship is modern in every respect, the proprietors having taken into consideration the comfort of their patrons as the first step toward building a successful business.

For instance, the comfortable barber chairs, the waiting chairs and the shine stand have the new Koch air cushion seats. The shop colors are a restful green, trimmed in black, and the floor is painted in colors which harmonize with the other decorations in the shop.

The Johnson Bros. shop is well located in the center of the business district of Monroe. It is one-half block from DeSiard street, in the annex to the Peoples Homestead and Savings association, on Catalpa street. It is also one-half block from parking lots on either side.

The shop has been established in Monroe for almost six years, and has enjoyed a good business, which has been largely due to the excellent sanitary condition the shop always maintains. The Johnson Bros. shop uses only well known, standard brands of supplies.

The men employed in this shop are always neat and friendly. They are barbers of long experience, capable of giving the best of service which is unsurpassed anywhere.

The men who will pleased to serve you include the Johnson brothers, Otis L. and S. A., who have been in Monroe eight years; R. G. May, who has served Monroe patrons for about three years, and W. F. Garner, who has been in this city more than 20 years.

"Treat yourself to the best" is the motto of Johnson Bros. Barber shop and the public is invited to try the service of this modern shop.

Approximately 25 per cent of the milk produced in New York state is utilized in making butter and other products.

WESTERN STORE HAD GOOD YEAR

Eubank Reports Exceptional Business; Truetone Radios Popular

J. T. Eubank, owner and operator of the Western Auto Associate store, 419 DeSiard street, reports that business during the past year was exceptionally good and anticipates an increase in sales during 1937.

"I attribute the success of the store in Monroe to the fact that we sell better merchandise for less and have a large stock from which the public can make its choice," Mr. Eubank said.

Among the items now featured by the Western Auto Associate store are Truetone radios for the home and for automobiles. Radios for the home may be had in both electric and battery models. The battery models are now designed so that they do not require "B" or "C" batteries, but operate on a single 6 volt battery and are equipped with all-wave reception.

Another feature of Truetone radios is the acoustic tone resonator which assumes life-like reception and enables all sounds to issue from the front of the cabinet in such a natural and beautiful tone quality that the listener almost visualizes the orchestra or speaker.

Truetone auto radios now on sale at the Western Auto Associate stores are noted for extraordinary quality tone unmatched for depth and fullness. The radio is equipped with reserve power in excess of six watts so that it can be heard above wind noises, motor roar, car rattles, at driving speeds of 90 miles an hour.

A revolutionary engineering feature of the Truetone auto radio is the Filtervox which eliminates motor noise, interference and vibrator hum. This feature insures uniform, quiet, perfect reception at all speeds.

A local distance switch on the Truetone auto radio also permits tremendous power and sensitivity for distant stations on the high side, or noise free reception of local stations when driving on car lines, near power interference, etc., on the low side.

Mr. Eubank stated that no expense has been spared by the manufacturers of Truetone home and auto radios to make them the most outstanding and efficient on the market, regardless of price.

Ornithologists have determined that 800 distinct species, with 1,200 subspecies of birds exist today.

Benny Heads Cast In 'College Holiday' At Paramount

Burns, Allen Also Play In Tuneful Film

Mary Boland And Martha Raye Also Included In Laugh Hit Of Season

MADCAP, hilarious and giddy—tuneful, gay and gorgeous—is "College Holiday," which opened at the Paramount theater last night. You can rate it right now as the laugh hit of the season.

Headed by a half dozen of America's greatest fun makers, and supported by a cast of brilliant specialty performers, "College Holiday" sets a new high standard in comedies with music for Hollywood to shoot at.

Jack Benny, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Mary Boland, and Martha Raye are in charge of the laughs, and the assignment could not have been placed in more capable hands. The love interest is maintained by Marsha Hunt, Leif Erikson, Eleanore Whitney, Johnny Downs, Olympe Bradna and Louis DaPron, with featured roles by Ben Blue and Etienne Girardot. A chorus of beautiful girls trained by Leroy Prinz introduces sprightly new dance routines.

"College Holiday" is the story of a pair of crack-pot cultists, played by Miss Boland and Girardot, who take over a bankrupt hotel, do it over into a Roman garden, and there propose to find out if it is possible to do away with love. Gracie Allen plays the part of Girardot's daughter. She is endowed with a fifth sense which provides her with the ability, so she thinks, of determining who is best suited for whom. Benny, press agent of the hotel, brings a group of college boys and girls to the hotel—ostensibly for the experiment, but actually to rally paying guests.

In this situation almost anything could happen and does. Martha Raye, the "find" of the year, who soared to the top rung of popularity after only three film appearances, scores another smash success in "College Holiday" with that exuberant, madcap and hilarious type of humor which is so distinctly her own.

The music in "College Holiday" also sets a new mark for Hollywood tunesmiths to shoot at. The celebrated teams of Ralph Rainger and Leo Robin, and Bert Lane and Ralph Freed, have put their heads together to write "Sweetheart Waltz," "A Rhyme for Love," "So What?" "I Adore You" and "Who's That Knocking at My Heart?," all definitely in the hit class and all certain to be sung and whistled by the citizenry for months.

"College Holiday" is beautifully conceived and produced in every detail. It was directed by Frank Tuttle, to whom—an orchid.

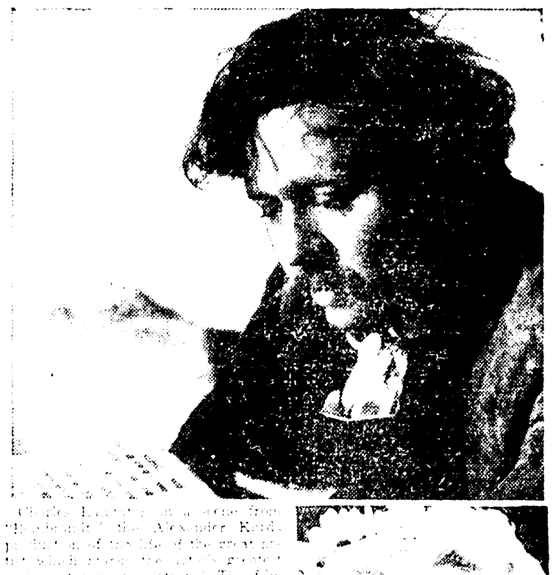
The artist catches Jack Benny quietly hurling a laugh into the ether (via the screen) in "College Holiday," laugh hit playing today and Monday at the Paramount. Burns and Allen, Mary Boland and Martha Raye do their share also in supplying laughs.

Playing the Capitol Monday, Jane Darwell, Delma Byron and Allan Lane in a dramatic comedy, "Laughing at Trouble."

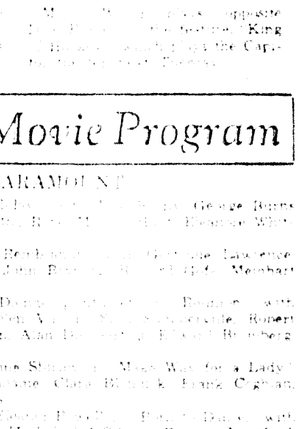
Hobart Cavanaugh suggests added precautions to Jimmy Dunn, who goes after a murderer in "Mysterious Crossing," at the Capitol theater today.

The central figure in the scenes of the 5,000 grown-up "babies" he brought into the world is the Country Doctor, Jean Hersholt, featured in "Dr. Ehrlich" starring the world-famous Dionne quintuplets. The cast also includes Rochelle Hudson, Robert Kent, Dorothy Peterson and John Qualen. It's at the Paramount, starting Wednesday.

Scenes from Kay Francis' picture "Give Me Your Heart" playing at the Capitol theater next Thursday. George Brent, a popular star plays opposite Miss Francis in the picture that every woman will want some man to see.



The Capitol theater is proud to present for a return engagement next Wednesday "Naughty Marietta" starring Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy with Frank Morgan.



'Mysterious Crossing' Is Capitol Film

Mystery And Comedy Blended In Story Of Adventure In New Orleans

A DIVERTING mixture of mystery and comedy, the Universal film, "Mysterious Crossing," plays today at the Capitol theater. It is entertaining screen fare that combines drama with a light touch of the humorous, mystery treated in the modern manner which has proved so popular.

The picture centers around a roving reporter, played by the popular James Dunn, whose nose for news leads him to New Orleans' biggest story of the year. He is crossing the Mississippi on a railroad ferry on his way to the southern city, when he hears a splash near where two men have been standing.

He thinks it is a case of murder rather than of double suicide. When it develops that only one passenger is missing, and that he is the city's most prominent banker, the news man is positive that it is murder.

Landing a job on one of the local papers, he goes to work on the case and finally turns the slayer over to the police with absolute proof of his guilt.

James Dunn is at his best as the reporter. He gives his character just that touch of devil-may-care brilliance that is associated with so many star news gatherers.

Andy Devine, cast as a hill-billy singer, "haunts" the reporter throughout the picture, trying the impossible task of collecting a loan. Andy gets the laugh, even though he does not get his man or his cash.

Jean Rogers has the feminine lead. The romance between her and the reporter stirs increased interest in the picture. Others who give excellent performances are John Eldredge, Hobart Cavanaugh and Herbert Rawlinson.

Much of the picture was made right in New Orleans and along the Mississippi. It shows many interesting scenes, including the huge ferries which carry railroad trains across the river, the famous French quarter, colorful Bourbon street, Canal street and the Roosevelt hotel, where the late Senator Huey Long made his Louisiana headquarters.

HANCHEY NAMED HEAD OF SCHOOLS

HOMER, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—T. A. Hanchey was re-elected superintendent of Claiborne parish schools at a meeting of the school board here Monday, and was elected for a four-year term of office beginning July 1. He was elected to fill the unexpired term of office of John S. Patton, who resigned last July.

At this meeting Tom Henderson, mayor of Haynesville, was re-elected president of the school board for a four-year term. He has served in this capacity for the past four years. T. L. Nelson was elected vice-president of the board. Ony one new member was added to the board at this time, P. C. Ware.

Various committees will be appointed at the April meeting. Board members include J. Will Gray, P. C. Ware, Tom Henderson, C. E. Miller, L. Almond, W. H. Henry, P. Bailey, Atkins Bailey, Mrs. J. W. Featherstone, G. T. Dawson and T. L. Nelson.

BASTROP'S FIRE DAMAGE TRIPLES

BASTROP, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—The fire loss in Bastrop in 1936 more than tripled that of 1935. However, in 1935 a low record was set with a year loss of only $6,260, while in 1936 the figure amounted to $22,590.55, according to the annual report of Walter Mayne, chief of the local department, to the state fire marshal.

During the year the department answered 71 calls, 42 of these being grass fires. There were five false alarms.

The major fire losses of the year included five residences with a total loss, seven residences with a partial loss, a veterinarian hospital with a total loss, a lumber dry kiln, a cafe and saloon, a vacant ice plant, a grocery store, three brick buildings damaged by fire and smoke, a drug store damaged by smoke and a clothing store damaged by smoke.

The fire department used 3,500 feet of hose, while in 1935 only 2,400 feet were used to fight fires. The actual total time consumed in fire fighting was 21 hours, five minutes.

Minor fires included 42 grass fires, two electric motors, one bale of cotton, one tree, two sewer gas, one telephone pole, two out-buildings and four automobiles. In fighting grass fires 400 feet of hose were used.

The annual fire loss in the past few years follows:

In 1930, $22,410; 1931, $31,040; 1932, $41,897; 1933, $13,547; 1934, $9,494.60, and 1935, $6,260.

FIREMEN'S ASSOCIATION TO MEET IN HAYNESVILLE

HOMER, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—The Northwest Louisiana Firemen's association will hold its quarterly meeting at Haynesville Thursday night, January 14, with the Haynesville firemen as hosts and the Gibsland fire chief, president of the association, in charge of the meeting.

A banquet and musical program will be given for the entertainment of the 75 firemen expected to attend the meeting. The association includes firemen from Arcadia, Gibsland, Minden, Ruston, Dubach, Homer and Haynesville.

Average rainfall for the entire globe is about 60 inches a year.

TECH DIRECTOR ASKED TO SPEAK

RUSTON, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—As a result of Louisiana Tech's emphasis upon activity work in connection with instruction, stressed particularly in the summer session of 1936, A. E. Phillips, director of the teacher-training school here, has been invited to speak in New Orleans at 2:15 p.m., February 23.

Using as his subject, "An Experience With a Progressive Program," Mr. Phillips will give his address before the department of elementary school principals, which will meet during the annual convention of the National Education association.

The invitation to Mr. Phillips, which has been accepted, was extended by Miss Josephine E. Hildebrandt, president of the New Orleans Principals' association.

Mr. Phillips also has just been appointed a member of the policies committee of the south, of the Progressive Education association, with headquarters in New York City. In announcing the appointment, Frederick L. WILL LANDSCAPE CAMPUS AT TECH

Work To Start At Once On Grounds In Front Of New Building

RUSTON, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—Work will start at once on a landscaping project at Louisiana Tech, centering around the site of the old main building destroyed by fire a year ago, President E. S. Richardson has announced. The plot lies in front of the new administration building now nearing completion, and is bounded by the education, science, home economics and engineering buildings.

Announcement of plans for the immediate beginning of the campus beautification program follows the obtaining of $65,383.10 for furnishing the new main hall. That amount, requested by the state board of education, has been granted by the state board of liquidation, which has authorized the expenditure, President Richardson said. The contract for the equipment and supplies for the new building was let on December 30 to the Standard Office Supply company of Monroe, but the money has just been made available.

Several state senators and representatives, who aided in securing the allotment for the building items, have received letters of appreciation from President Richardson.

Funds remaining from insurance claims paid upon the burned building and its contents will be used for the landscaping, it was announced. Part of that money has been spent to replace needed equipment lost in the fire.

The landscaping work will be under the supervision of President Richardson and T. A. Wright, superintendent of buildings and grounds at Tech. R. A. McFarland, associate professor of civil engineering at the college here, will be in charge of surveying the grounds.

Plans prepared by the Lambert Landscape company of Shreveport will be carried out in the beautification project. The present U-shaped drive, fronted by the education and library buildings, will be torn up and graded into a part of an attractive park, which will extend southward to the engineering building. A network of sidewalks is included in the scenic improvement.

MONROE WOODMEN AID START LODGE

The degree team and officers of the Monroe lodge of Woodmen of the World participated in the installation of officers of the lodge at Start Friday night. The protection degree also was conferred. An oyster supper was served at the close of the meeting.

Parker McComb of Monroe was named as special delegate to confer the degree of Knight of the Candle on G. B. Halley.

The officers installed were: Jim Lyons, past consul commander; E. V. Eppinette, consul commander; Eugene Griffin, adviser lieutenant; Raymond Eppinette, escort; Marvyn Eager, banker; G. B. Halley, clerk; E. B. Halley, watchman; Norman Hammond, sentry; Jim Lyons, Houston Taylor, S. Fuller, board of managers.

A meeting will be held at the lodge rooms here this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to arrange for the big log rolling which will be held at Jonesboro on January 24.

CHURCHES

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH
Jackson at Wood Street
W. C. Scott, Pastor

The new year is evidenced in every department of the church, as renewed activities are claiming the attention of members of every department. In crossing the threshold of the new year, with its uncertainties, its doubts and its fears, we may pass over with confidence and trust if we follow the leadership of Him who says, "Be strong and fear not." The pastor has chosen the subject "A Great Challenge," for the Sunday morning sermon. Evening services are held at 7:15. Both services will be broadcast by KMLB. On Monday evening at 6:45, the Methodist Men's club will meet in the annex for their monthly supper. The guest speaker on this occasion will be Mr. C. O. Holland of Minden, the new conference lay leader. Immediately following, the board of stewards will hold their regular monthly business session. The Woman's Missionary society will meet in circles on Tuesday at 3 p.m. Meeting places of the various circles will be found in the calendar of the daily paper and in the church bulletin. The local board of Christian education will meet in the church office Wednesday evening at 7:30. If you have no church home, you are cordially invited to worship with us at all services. If this is your church home, you are expected to attend its services.

ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Christ Ambassadors' class at 6:45 p.m. Prayer and praise service Tuesday night. Young people's service Thursday night. Rev. Charles C. Robinson of Fort Worth, Tex., will begin a three weeks' revival with us January 26. Rev. Robinson held a very successful revival here last October and we are very glad to have him return for another meeting. We extend a cordial welcome to all to meet with us.

METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH
Stone Avenue and South Third Street
I. L. Yeager, Pastor

Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship at 11 o'cock. At this hour the Lord's supper will be taken. Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p.m. Mrs. I. L. Yeager will lead in the meeting. Evening service at 7:45. Circle No. 1 will meet with Mrs. G. B. Haynes Tuesday afternoon at 2:20. Circle No. 2 to meet with Mrs. C. W. Martin Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mid-week prayer service Thursday evening at 7:30. Miss Thelma Robinson, leader. Our church ideal: "A sanctuary of the spirit; a training school for Christian character; a center of helpful service; a force for civic righteousness; a power for God throughout the world, and an unfailing spring of inner refreshment and strength, free to all who come."

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH
3400 Lee Avenue
Rev. D. D. Cantrell, Pastor

Sunday school will be called to order at 9:45 a.m. by the superintendent, E. L. Boies. A full attendance of the Sunday school membership is urged, and new members are cordially invited to be present. The B. T. U. will meet at 6:30 p.m. The pastor will preach at the morning sermon hour on the subject, "The One-Half Mile Christian," and will preach at the evening hour on the subject, "The Two-Mile Christian." All members of the church are requested to turn in their subscription pledges for the church financial budget not later than Sunday night.

GRACE CHURCH
Fourth and Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

The Sundays after Epiphany bear us gently along in the glowing light of the sun of righteousness, now manifested to the world. In the Eastern church this Sunday is kept as the festival of youth, for the Holy Gospel brings before us the manifestation of our Lord's boyhood. It is one of the earliest of the Epiphanies of that gracious power by which He "spake as never man spake." It tells also that He "increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man," or in other words, as the natural sun grows brighter and brighter in our sight from the dawning to the noon day, though in itself the same all the while, so the sun of righteousness was manifested more and more in the flesh, till "we beheld His glory, the glory of the Only Begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth." The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. Church school will meet at 9:30 a.m., and morning prayer and sermon at 11 a.m. The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. for rest, prayer, meditation and thanksgiving. You are welcome to come in the church at any time.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
D. C. Black, Director of Education and Music

Beginning a series of sermons for both morning and evening services, the pastor will preach at the 11 o'clock hour on "Christ As God," and at the evening hour on "The Bible." The general theme of the morning series will be "The Preeminence of Christ," dealing with Christ as God, Man, Light, Lamb, Shepherd, Priest, King and Judge. The evening series will deal with "Great Bible Doctrines," including sin, repentance and faith, conversion, regeneration, the church, baptism, the Lord's supper and the second coming of Christ. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. D. C. Black, with Mrs. Cornett at the piano, will sing "Father in Heaven" (Doun-Salter). Baptismal rites will conclude the evening service. Of interest not only to our congregation, but others for miles around will be the coming of Dr. J. E. Dillard, promotion secretary of the executive board of the Southern Baptist convention, Nashville, Tenn., who will speak in our church Friday night of this week at 7:30.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
West Monroe
E. E. Huntsberry, Pastor
O. J. Thompson, Educational Director

Rev. Huntsberry will bring both messages Sunday. At 10:50 a.m., he will speak on "The Lord Is My Shepherd," from the Psalms. At the evening hour, he will talk on "Calamities Changed to Victories." There will be special music under the direction of Mr. Thompson at all services. Visitors are always welcome.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH
Harrison and D'Arbonne
(Sherrouse Addition)
Vernon C. Grosse, Pastor

Sunday school and Bible class at 9:45 a.m. Church service at 10:45 a.m. The Epistle lesson for this Sunday is found in 1 Peter 4:12-19. This first Epistle of Peter is a letter of encouragement. The greater part of the letter has reference to the sufferings which Christians endure for Christ's sake. Instead of being ashamed of these sufferings or distressed, it is the proper attitude for us to commit our souls to the Lord, who is faithful in all His doings and will keep us in His grace. The text for the sermon is found in II Peter 3:17-18. All are cordially invited to worship with us.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
Auburn Avenue and North Second St.

Sunday services 11 a.m. Sunday school 9:30 a.m., Wednesday evening testimony meetings 8 o'clock. Reading room, 602 Ouachita National Bank building, open daily, except Sunday and holidays, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. The public is welcome to all services and the use of the reading room. "Sacrament" is the subject of the lesson sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, January 10, 1937. Among the citations which comprise the lesson sermon is the following from the Bible: "And he took bread, and gave thanks, and brake it, and gave unto them, saying, This is my body which is given for you; this do in remembrance of me. Likewise also the cup after supper, saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood, which is shed for you." (Luke 22). The lesson sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The true sense is spiritually lost, if the sacrament is confined to the use of bread and wine. Jesus prayed; he withdrew from the material senses to refresh his heart with brighter, with spiritual views." (p. 32).

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
Corner of Gordon and Dixie
Rev. J. M. Alford, Pastor

Sunday school at 9:45 a.m., E. K. Reeves, general superintendent. Worship service at 11 a.m.; discourse by the pastor, subject: "Cooperation." Young people's service at 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Herbert Branch, superintendent. The regular evening service at 7:30 o'clock, with a message on some evangelistic subject. Fine music and inspirational singing at all services.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH
812 Mississippi Street
I. J. Brooks, Pastor

The pastor's morning message will be an exposition of the eighth chapter of Romans. The subject for the evening services will be "The Eternal Seeker," Luke 15:10. All circles of the W. M. S. meet at the church Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for Bible study. The study will be the book of Ruth. The church with a welcome for everybody.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
South Second and Apple Streets
J. P. Lowrey, Minster

Bible study at 9:45 a.m. Preaching and worship at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sermon subject Sunday night: "Ye Must Be Born Again." Ladies' Bible study Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. Prayer meeting at 7:30 p.m. Worship with us. You will be made to feel at home.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont at Catalpa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor

Today our thought will be turned to the minister's annuity plan, which is the task before the people of our faith in the year 1937. If the way be clear, the congregation in assembly will adopt the recommendation of the elders and deacons. Will you, therefore, worship with us that we may consider the high points in the program? Twenty religious bodies have such a plan in effect. A way has been provided for the sustentation of their ministers, missionaries and wives when the hour of retirement arrives. The annuity is sane, spiritual and splendid. You have an opportunity to become a part of a program which will bring forth fruits even to the end. "Even so hath the Lord ordained that they who preach the gospel shall live of the gospel." "Take heed to thyself that thou forsake not the Levite as long as thou livest upon the land." The president of the Prudential Insurance company, Dr. Edward D. Duffield, a Presbyterian elder, whose actuaries approved our plan, wrote: "I cannot think that it is necessary to more than present this cause to obtain a favorable response." A standard training school will begin Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Five courses will be offered. This effort is in the interest of congregational and Sabbath school progress and efficiency. Not less than 25 people are expected from our local congregation. A cordial welcome awaits all who worship with us.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Oak and St. John Streets
Crayton S. Brooks, Minister

The church school begins the day with a general assembly at 9:45 a.m., with all present in the main auditorium, from the youngest to the oldest. A brief period of worship together, and then the classes as usual. We are now to have everyone in the general meeting every Sunday morning at 9:45. The birthday box will be revived. The usual hour of church worship is 10:50 a.m. Sermon, "Religion at This Moment." It will include a study of Russia, Germany, Spain and Italy, as well as America. The Lord's supper is to be at the close of the hour, the spiritual climax of the Sunday morning. The senior Endeavor will give a supper to its members at 6 p.m. The intermediate Christian Endeavor will meet at 6:30 p.m. At 7:30, Dr. Brooks will give the story of "The Other Wise Man," as told by Dr. Henry Van Dyke in his great masterpiece. The story will be illustrated by 50 tinted stereopticon pictures on the screen. The Bible Study club will meet on Wednesday evening at 7:30, with the minister as leader.

DEBATING CLUB FOR CENTER ORGANIZED

A debating club was organized by a group of Northeast Center students at the activity period on Thursday. Officers were elected as follows: Gilbert Brown, president; Howard Honeycutt, vice-president; Mildred Johnson, secretary-treasurer; Emmett Chisum, reporter.

Professor W. R. Hammond, instructor in the social science department, was unanimously elected sponsor. He gave a brief address outlining the purposes of the club and the correct procedure to be followed in order to make the organization successful.

Plans were discussed by members of the club for conducting debates and meet court in the near future.

L'SALLE PARISH BOARD NAMES SCHOOL OFFICIALS

JENA, La., Jan. 9.—(Special)—J. D. Russell, Jr., was re-elected LaSalle parish superintendent of public schools by the LaSalle parish school board at a regular meeting this week. Mr. Russell, who has served a four-year term already, will begin his new term July 1, 1937, and end it June 30, 1941. Q. T. Hardtner was re-elected president of the school board and his term corresponds with Mr. Russell's. J. A. Turner was elected vice-president of the board to succeed J. Q. Hodges.

E. W. Plummer, who now holds the office of parish supervisor of public schools, was elected to a new term of four years in this office beginning July 1, 1937, and ending June 30, 1941.

Miss Lena Walker will continue her services as secretary to the superintendent until the expiration of his term.

DICK TRACY

by CHESTER GOULD

SCENE: A CERTAIN HOTEL IN THE CITY'S CHEAPER SECTION.

WHO IS IT?

IT'S NINA.

307

HELLO, DADDY.

SH-----. SHUT THE DOOR AND LOCK IT.

WHY DID YOU CALL US HERE?

I HAD TO. I'M LEAVING THE CITY. I'VE GOT TO, TO SAVE MY LIFE.

STEP BEHIND THIS SCREEN. I DON'T WANT HER TO SEE.

THEY FLOGGED ME. THEY SUSPECT I WANT TO LEAVE THE GANG. THEY SAID NEXT TIME I FAIL THEM THEY'LL KILL ME.

MEANWHILE, IN THE ADJOINING ROOM, DICK TRACY AND PAT PATTON, WHO HAVE BEEN SHADOWING "BALDY" STARK, SIT WITH MAGNIFYING EAR-PHONES LISTENING INTENTLY TO THE CONVERSATION.

SOUNDS LIKE HE WANTS TO GO STRAIGHT, DICK.

SH-H-SH-.

I'M SICK OF THIS LIFE. I'M GOING TO A DISTANT CITY AND GET AN HONEST JOB UNDER ANOTHER NAME. I'VE GOT TO, FOR HER SAKE. I'LL SEND YOU MONEY.

AT THAT [illegible] INSTANT, THREE [illegible] INTO AN [illegible] CE.

WELL, WE'RE HERE, BOSS.

WHERE'S NUMBER 4?

-AND THAT'S ALL WE KNOW- HE JUST DIDN'T SHOW UP.

THEN HE IS DOUBLE CROSSING US. HE WAS TO HAVE BEEN HERE ON TIME. IT WAS HIS LAST CHANCE.

FIND HIM! FILL HIS BODY WITH LEAD SLUGS- WIRE HIM UP AND THROW HIM OVER THE BRIDGE AT THE DOLMAN RIVER.

I'VE GOT TO LEAVE, NOW, NINA! I WON'T EVEN TELL YOU WHERE I'M GOING, BUT YOU'LL HEAR FROM ME REGULARLY.

DADDY- DON'T GO- DON'T.

QUICK, TRACY- OUT IN THE HALL. WE'VE GOT TO NAB THAT HOODLUM.

NO, PAT! "BALDY" MEANS WHAT HE SAYS! WE'LL GIVE HIM A BREAK. ---AT LEAST FOR THE TIME BEING.

FISHER'S HISTORY OF BOXING

1932 WAS A TOUGH YEAR FOR BRADDOCK. HE WAS BATTED AROUND PLENTY AND AMONG HIS OPPONENTS WERE THE TOUGH VINCENT PARILLO, DYNAMITE JACKSON, RETZLAFF, AND TOM PATRICK.

I GOT AN OFFER FROM CHICAGO FOR A SCRAP WITH LEVANDOWSKI.

GOSH-- I CAN SURE USE SOME DOUGH.

GYMNA

I AINT GOT ENOUGH EXPENSES FOR BOTH OF US. YOU'LL HAVE T'GO ON WITHOUT ME. I'M DOWN TO ONE WAFER AFTER BUYIN' YOUR TICKET.

I'LL DO MY BEST, JOE. YOU CAN BET ON THAT.

WHEN JIM ARRIVED IN CHI THE BOXING SOLONS REFUSED TO LET HIM GO ON UNLESS HE SHOWED WHAT HE HAD.

HERE'S A LETTER FROM EFFIE WELSH. HE WANTS T'KNOW IF I KIN GIT HIM A GUY FER A K.OF C. CHARITY FIGHT. OH YEAH--HERE'S SOMETHIN' ELSE---

HE WANTS A IRISH FIGHTER IF POSSIBLE. THERE'S A LOTTA IRISH FANS UP THERE.

GOSH--I AINT GOT TIME T'LOOK UP NOBUDDY-- I'M TOO BUSY.

AHEM-- PROBABLY I MIGHT SCOUT ONE UP.

BY GOSH THAT'S A IDEE!! SCRAM DOWN T'TH' GYM AN' TRY AN' GIT 'IM ONE.

BRRFSK--V.V. WEIDEBOTTOM SIR. I AM LOOKING FOR A GOOD IRISH FIGHTER. COULD YOU GIVE ME ANY INFORMATION?

SAY--- YOU COULDN'T DONE BATTER. I GOTTIT EXACTLY WHAT YOU WANT!

AHEM--WHAT IS HIS NAME?

HIS NAME? UH--WHY-- UH--TARRIBLE TARRY O'HOUNIHAN. SAY--AINT DOT A NAME? YOU SEDDIT!

WEIDEBOTTOM WENT OUT OF TOWN WITH 'EM. HE WIRED ME HE GOT A BOY NAMED TERRIBLE TERRY O'HOUNIHAN.

MY GOODNESS, THAT CERTAINLY SOUNDS LIKE A FIGHTING NAME.

MEBBE WE KIN GET IT ON THE RADIO.

LISSEN T'THAT! O'HOUNIHAN SLUGGED 'IM ALL OVER TH' RING THAT ROUND! WEIDEBOTTOM PICKED A GOOD ONE ALL RIGHT.

HE MUST BE A REAL FIGHTER. IT SOUNDS AWFULLY EXCITING.

I'LL SAY.

US IRISH ARE NATCHERLY GREAT FIGHTERS! LISSEN-- O'HOUNIHAN DROVE JONES INTA TH' ROPES----

HOT DARN--KIN THAT IRISHMAN GO--- I'LL BET HE KAYO'S 'IM! MOST GREAT FIGHTERS WAS IRISH!

YES I KNOW.

SHH PLEASE KNOBBY--- I CAN'T HEAR THE BROADCAST.

YESSIR FOLKS--- O'HOUNIHAN WINS BY A KAYO. THE FANS ARE GOING WILD---

HEY TERRY-- SAY SOMETHING IN THE MIKE WILL YOU?

VELL MY FRANS-- I GASS I VON. HOKAY!

BRAVING the CARIBBEAN in A CANOE

TORMS battered the two caravels remaining to Christopher Columbus, on the return from his fourth trip to the New World, in June, 1503, until they landed, useless wrecks, on the north coast of Jamaica. Stranded, lacking provisions, facing sickness and mutiny among his men, Columbus asked who of his 200 followers would dare the sea again in search of aid from the Spanish colony on the island of Hispaniola, now Haiti. Only a frail Indian canoe was available. It seemed a suicidal venture.

But Diego Mendez, valiant disciple of the great admiral, offered to go. He built up the keel and the sides of the canoe, to withstand the heavy seas, rigged up a sail, and with one other Spaniard and six Indian paddlers he set sail.
